SKINNY KRIBBLES

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

You see, it happened like this: Along comes Marco Polo Edgar, and says, "We leave at 11 o'clock Sunday night and at 5 o'clock Monday morning we will be on the almond grove to welcome the sunrise." All of my former doubt as to Carl's veracity was swept away. Darned if we weren't there just as the sun was giving its welcome to the new day. That fellow's schedule would have been a credit to an experienced train dispatcher. He picked the spot in Bakersfield where we would eat, and picked up the menu before I could get to it. He didn't sing it, but he picked that lonesome road from Wasco through the Lost Hills section to Paso Robles, and we only met six cars in a hundred miles.

Edgar knows that country like a book—or time table. Used to help the other students raise yell at California Polytechnic college at San Luis Obispo. Why, when we rolled through Ventura he picked out the house where Fred Merker used to live and said there was a church near it. I didn't see any reason for making reference to the location of the church, unless Fred needed it. To me that wasn't the crux of the insinuation. It was whether Fred used it.

Incidentally it was my observation in passing through Ventura that my raving about flaming eucalyptus trees wouldn't disturb the aesthetic tranquility of the people of that thriving city. They have 'em in abundance. However, their frequency did not diminish my appreciation.

Well, jf we did get home at 3:15 Monday p. m. it would have been some trip, and I don't say we did. It isn't necessary that the witness incriminate himself. But I'll say if there was any wasted time I cannot recall where. Being the first to arrive at the almond grove we were able to bring home some evidence.

And then there was Ray Buenemán and C. R. McGowan and Henry Gerkin and Dick Tubbs and "Brink" Brinkerhoff, other ad infinitums, who solicited information about the trip to the almond grove, more jocular than serious. Tubbs only incidentally interested. His submerged concern was a ticket to France so he could accompany the firm of Earel-Olewiler-Brinkerhoff as chief of the insecticide division. Dick argued that if conditions "over there" had not changed since the World war they would need him. He can go. Both of my boxes of oranges have been picked, packed and purchased.

Now listen, you "kiddin' krowd," I know that patience is a virtue, but you don't. So you can all go to France for all I care. The California almond harvest this year will probably be in excess of 16,000 tons. That's some nuts. Largest yield—maybe—in the history of the industry in this state. So, you don't think I'll run away from that situation, do you, especially when Frank Morse, the superintendent, and I, have a combined interest in several tons of the grand total.

* * *

One of the neighborhood growers says the almond industry in my section is of continued interest. Along in February the bloom arrives. If the bloom escapes the frost that's a piece of good luck. If it does escape the frost then it may get hit by pelting rains, and then the bloom isn't on the almond. To what remains nature goes to work and develops the nut, and good progress is made unless the intense heat dries up the formative kernel. Now we are getting some place, if we can just keep the squirrels and the birds away. And if you keep them away there is some danger to a non-resident owner of having nomadic visitors beat you to the harvest. Otherwise, you hope

300 KILLED BY JAPANESE BOMBERS

Defenders Still Hold Lines Against Nippons

SHANGHAI. (AP)—At least 300 Chinese non-combatants were killed and 400 injured today in one of the worst disasters caused by Japanese air bombs in the three months of undeclared war.

Five railroad cars, packed with 1500 Chinese refugees from the war zone, were blown from their tracks by Japanese bombers at Sungkiang station, 30 miles from Shanghai.

Two densely crowded second-class coaches and three third-class cars were shattered by the blast and turned over. Many passengers were crushed to death in the wreckage.

The bombs fell without warning as the train was standing in the Sungkiang station, on the line to Kankow.

The fearful explosions literally showered human forms and blood-smeared debris into the air. The bodies of the dead were scattered in all directions.

RED CROSS AID RUSHED

Injured and dying were sprawled grotesquely in the railroad yards as though they had been shot down in battle.

A Chinese spokesman declared the train carried no soldiers, and that the station was serving no military purpose.

Red Cross officials rushed aid from Shanghai to reinforce crews of doctors and nurses already on the scene from the Sungkiang Chinese hospital.

Poor Chinese marksmanship again defeated a combined aerial and artillery attack on Japanese men-of-war in the Whangpoo river

HALT TIDELAND DRILLING MOVE

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — The state director of finance was under state supreme court injunction today not to open bids for leases on state-owned tidelands at Huntington Beach for oil drilling next Friday.

The court yesterday granted the petition of E. B. Clancy, who described himself as a proponent of the referendum measure to repeal recent legislation authorizing the drilling, and ordered Arlin E. Stockburger, state director of finance, to refrain from opening bids until after a hearing before the court here Oct. 5.

Clancy's petition cited an opinion of Attorney General U. S. Webb that the law was not an urgency measure and that it was subject to referendum.

I'll Tell You

By BOB BURNS

You hear a lot of these comedian fellas makin' jokes about mother-in-laws, but I'll tell you, there ain't nothin' like 'em if you get a good one. You can't blame a mother for lookin' after her daughter's interest and a lot'ta these domineering husbands would run plumb over their wives if it wasn't for the mother-in-law steppin' in.

My Aunt Sophie Ledbetter was one of them kind of good mother-in-laws. She was at her daughter's house one time on one of her semi-annual six months visits when her daughter got in another argument with her husband. It was a terrible fight: My Aunt Sophie Ledbetter called the police and says, "Get down here right away. My son-in-law is havin' another fight with my daughter."

The policeman says, "Well, have your daughter come down to the police station right away and swear out a complaint against her husband." Aunt Sophie said, "Well she can't come right now—she's busy bumping his head on the floor."

Keep U. S. Out of Orient's Mess!

More than 2 out of 3 Santa Ana citizens are saying, "Let's get out of China at once!"

The other believes Uncle Sam should use his marines and sailors to protect his citizens in Shanghai and discourage aggression and invasion in Asia.

Two to one. That is the ratio of sentiment here, judging from the first return of a poll started yesterday by The Journal in regard to America's course during the Sino-Japanese conflict.

This morning's count of the ballots shows 11 persons in favor of the first proposal: "The United States should use its military and naval forces to protect its citizens and discourage aggression and invasion in Asia.

AMERICA'S FOREIGN POLICY

What do the people of this section of Southern California, bordering on the Pacific across from the Orient, want their government to do about the Chinese-Japanese mess?

Register your opinion by indicating on this ballot which policy you favor.

1. The United States should use its military and naval forces to protect its citizens and discourage aggression and invasion in Asia.....( )

2. The United States should not risk war, but should remove its military and warn its citizens that they remain entirely at their own risk.....( )

Address envelope or card to War Poll Editor, Santa Ana Journal, Santa Ana, Calif.

Twenty-eight ballots are marked in support of the second proposition: "The United States should not risk war, but should remove its military and warn its citizens that they remain entirely at their own risk.

As the international situation now stands, President Roosevelt has warned Americans not to remain in China, but he had dispatched additional armed forces to the scene of conflict.

What do you think Uncle Sam should do?

Make your decision known by means of the ballot printed herewith.

'We Should Get Out of China'

"War is hell!"

The Santa Ana men who've been there—local veterans who fought the last war—are agreed on that point. They had one dose and they're fed up, a representative cross-section of them told The Journal today.

It's no longer a question of who wants to go to war. No one wants to go. More pertinent are the questions of when and if and what's to be done to keep America out of such "incidents" as the current Sino-Japanese dog-fight.

SHOULD STAY AT OWN RISK

Several believe the United States owes her nationals in China the full protection of American military and naval forces.

Others think Americans abroad should be told to get out of China and that any who remained should do so at their own risk.

Here's what they say:

Earl Hawks, prominent in Orange county Disabled American Veterans circles:

"I'm confident the government will take a wise course in its attitude toward the war.

OPPOSES 'PUSSY-FOOTING'

"Although it seems wise to warn our nationals to get out of Shanghai, I don't believe in pussy-footing and I think we have a perfect right to defend our nationals' rights to the full extent of our treaty limits—with force, if necessary. It's about time international treaties were being respected."

N. E. Meister, past commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars:

"We haven't any business over there. We should warn our nationals to come home, then pull out of China and let

Legless Swimmer Seeking Porpoise to Scare Sharks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Zimmy, the legless merman, has a purpose—lacks a porpoise.

His purpose is to make a non-stop swim from Key West, Fla., to Havana, Cuba. He wants the porpoise to keep man-eating sharks from further abbreviating the Zimmy torso.

In case you don't remember, Zimmy (nee Charles), 42, is the man who recently made a 145-mile non-stop swim from Albany to New York, powered by 300 cigars, a bucket of raw hamburger and a bottle of brandy.

Zimmy feels the 85-mile ocean swim will be a cinch—if he can locate a healthy adult porpoise.

"Even the smell of a porpoise will scare sharks away," Zimmy said.

BEN KRAEMER, NORTH CO. PIONEER, DIES

Rancher Settled Near Placentia in 1867

Less than a year old when his parents settled on a barren 3900-acre patch of brush and cactus in the fall of 1867, thus becoming the Placentia district's first white settlers, Benjamin Kraemer, 70, died at his famous old ranch home yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Kraemer, who literally grew up with Placentia, had resided in the stately old residence his father built shortly after coming to California.

SON OF PIONEER

Born in Belleville, Ill., Mr. Kraemer was a son of the late Daniel Kraemer, a native of Bavaria, who came to this country in 1842. He lived several years in the Mississippi valley before coming west.

A pioneer rancher, Mr. Kraemer's father set out the first walnut orchard in this section.

Benjamin Kraemer learned ranching from the time he was a small boy and attended what then was the Cajon public school. He graduated from Woodbury's business college at the age of 19 and returned to the home ranch.

One of the organizers of the Placentia Mutual Orange Growers association and a member of the Fullerton-Placentia Walnut Growers association, Mr. Kraemer was prominent in numerous county-wide undertakings until several years ago when he entered a semi-retired life.

ARRANGE FUNERAL

He leaves seven daughters, Mrs. John Willis, Mrs. Lucy Brunet, Miss Rosabelle Kraemer, all of Placentia; Mrs. Victor Reis, Whittier; Mrs. Julian Alec, Anaheim; Mrs. Robert Heffner, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Elwood Hathaway, Norwalk; two sons, William and Benjamin H., jr., both of Placentia; and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Miller and Mrs. Emma Grimshaw, both of Anaheim.

Funeral arrangements were being made this morning at Backs, Terry & Campbell mortuary in Anaheim.

Rosary will be conducted for Mr. Kraemer in the Backs, Terry and Campbell chapel at Anaheim at 8 p. m. tomorrow, followed by mass at 10 a. m. Friday in St. Mary's church at Fullerton. Interment will be in Holy Sepulcher cemetery, Orange.

FEAR STRIKE VIOLENCE

Charges of intimidating non-strikers at the Irvine Warehouse company plant today brought the sheriff's office into the county strike picture as steps were taken to prevent possible outbreaks of violence.

Irvine ranch officials told the sheriff's office that two workers had been threatened by strikers and failed to show up for work today, according to a report on file at the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Logan Jackson assigned Deputies A. W. Fullerton and R. E. Steinberger to investigate the case, and to attend a conference between strikers and ranch officials set for this afternoon.

It was reported that negotiations for settlement of the strike would get under way at the conference this afternoon, although Irvine ranch officials refused to comment on the situation and officials of the Teamsters Warehouse union, which called the strike Monday morning, could not be found.

Eighteen workers were reported to have walked out.

Found Alive After 24-Hour Hunt

Frank Whebley, jr., 3, shown in the arms of a detective, was found with his sister, Helen, 6, near their home in Philadelphia, after having been missing overnight. The children were said to have spent the night with a woman. A police examination revealed they had been attacked.

Skunk Stunk, Now Pup's Up Stump

By KENNETH ADAMS

Members of the Joseph A. Callens family were singing a doleful version of the popular song, "I Can't Escape from You," today. And as the mournful strains reached the drooping ears of "Topsy," their fox terrier, the poor pup slunk shamefacedly away and tried to bury himself in the ground. The trouble started yesterday when Topsy yipped in high glee as she chased a "cat" under the Callens' ranch house. Topsy caught the cat. But it didn't make her happy. It was the wrong kind of cat. It had stripes on it like a barber pole. Only they were black and white.

Now Topsy slinks disconsolately about the place, odors attached. She is a pup without a kennel, shunned by friend and foe alike. The odor lingers on. Even her dog friends shun her like the plague.

NO RELIEF

Topsy knows what's wrong, but what can she do? She sniffs of herself, then reels and veers and gasps for breath. Then she staggers over to the plowed fields and tries to scrape the obnoxious odor off on the fresh soil. But it doesn't help much.

Mrs. Callens discovered that there was a dead skunk in the basement of the house, in a most distressing manner. She went to the cooler to get some butter. Then she slammed it in a hurry and called for help.

The situation was desperate, what with a dead skunk in the basement and all. They tried to get hold of Poundmaster Harold Pickering, who lives just across the street. But he was gone, and he said afterwards he wasn't the least bit sorry. So the job of getting the object of their woe out of the basement fell into the unwilling hands of the hired man.

Today the skunk is gone, but there still is Topsy and her odor. Next time the pup no doubt will start counting stripes up to 10 at least before she chases a cat.

Engineer Dies In Train Wreck

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Derailment of a Wabash railroad train, bound for St. Louis from Detroit with 200 passengers, on a curve near here, left one dead and five injured, one critically, today.

Dozens of other persons were cut and bruised, but their injuries did not require hospital treatment. David Karicofe of Detroit, engineer, was killed.

REBELS WIN NAVAL FIGHT

Two Spanish Craft Attacked By Warship

ALGIERS, Algeria. (AP) — A Spanish government fleet of two cruisers and five trawlers steamed in battle array in the western Mediterranean today to engage an insurgent warship and try to keep the sealanes clear for supply ships bound for the government coast.

Heavy cannonade off Tenes preceded reports of conflict between the government fleet and the insurgent cruiser Canarias.

Just before the battle, the Canarias had forced two Spanish government freighters ashore in one of the newest incidents of Mediterranean attacks on merchant vessels.

Results of the battle were in doubt, although some advices said the government cruiser Libertad was damaged. With her was the government cruiser Mendez and the five trawlers.

The government fleet late yesterday ordered the freighters Aldecoa and Antonio de Satrustegui to leave Algiers for Valencia, the Spanish government capital, under the warships' protection.

But when the Canarias attacked the freighters, their captains beached them under fire.

RIFT WIDENS IN CRISIS OVER PIRATES

Russian Note Sneers At Four Countries

A blistering exchange of notes between Moscow and Rome today brought a feverish Europe one step nearer what Russians threatened may be another World war.

Renewed accusations that Italy is responsible for "pirate" submarine attacks on shipping in the Mediterranean and a threat that Russia will take matters in her own hands brought fear that major nations were headed toward a bitter fight with communism arrayed against fascism for supremacy.

Russia today:

1. Attacked Germany in a note, as an "ally of Italy."

2. Intimated that France and Great Britain are not seeking real identity of "pirate" submarines; that results of a conference of all Mediterranean powers called for Friday will be negligible.

3. That Moscow will use force if satisfactory reprisals are not arranged.

Moscow Threatens Use of Force

MOSCOW. (AP)—The Red army's official newspaper served notice today that the Soviet government will use force "to call Italian sea pirates to their responsibility" if peaceful moves fail.

The newspaper Red Star declared the Soviet government was determined to obtain redress from Italy for the sinking of two Soviet ships which the government attributed to Italian submarines.

If Friday's proposed conference of Mediterranean powers fails to obtain that redress, the Red Star said, Soviet Russia will use its own means.

The newspaper attacked Italian Premier Mussolini for "trying to create a new Roman empire."

It declared the Soviet government "will find the necessary means for calling sea pirates to their responsibility and forcing them to "fulfill legal demands" of Moscow.

The Soviet government agrees to discuss any collective measure which would end "the intolerable situation in the Mediterranean," the newspaper said.

But it added that Moscow "will insist that Italy satisfy all (the Soviet government's) just demands."

The Soviet union's official press criticized Great Britain and France today for failing to join Russia in blaming Italian submarines for piracy in the Mediterranean.

The newspapers predicted little would come of Friday's Mediterranean conferences designed to end attacks on shipping in the inland sea.

Russ-Italian Notes Widen Rift

FILE DEMAND FOR CIVIL SERVICE HERE

City Clerk Ed Vegely was faced today with the tremendous task of verifying qualifications of 10,050 signatures of registered voters who signed petitions calling for a special election on civil service for the police and fire department.

The petitions were presented to the city council last night, and the council referred them to the city clerk for verification of qualification of signers.

Only 15 per cent of the registered vote in the city was necessary, but policemen and firemen obtained about 60 per cent of the total registered vote. There were 92 petitions circulated.

TWO COURSES OPEN

The council now will have the choice of either:

1. Passing the ordinance for civil service without alteration at the regular session of the council, or

2. Forthwith call a special election at which the ordinance shall be submitted to a vote of electors of Santa Ana.

The ordinance creates a civil service board for Santa Ana, providing for the appointment of the board and for placing police and fire departments under civil service. It provides for three members of a civil service board to be appointed at the first regular meeting after adoption of the ordinance. It is specified that the board members be men known to be in sympathy with the merit system or civil service system.

REGULATIONS

The board is to elect a chairman, who will in turn name a chief examiner, who also shall serve as secretary of the board. The board is to hold examinations for those who want jobs in the police or fire department, and all authorized or needed officers and members shall be recommended to be chosen or promoted by chiefs of the departments from the three highest standing candidates on the eligible list furnished by the civil service board.

The ordinance provides for a trial board, to be composed of the same members as the civil service board, and a majority of the board may give a verdict on an employe under trial. If he is found guilty, the matter is reported to the city council by the board, and the council may dismiss the employe or punish him or her as it sees fit. It is provided, however, that, should a policeman or fireman be found drunk on duty, the city council must fire him.

BAN ON POLITICS

No person shall be appointed, promoted, demoted or discharged because of political opinions or affiliations or because of his or her religious belief. This clause was inserted in an effort to remove the fire and police department jobs out of city politics.

It is provided that incumbents are automatically qualified for their jobs, and are to remain in their respective positions.

After adoption of the ordinance, the council cannot withdraw either department from operation of the system without calling a special election or putting the matter to the voters at a regular election. Then it takes a two-thirds majoriy vote to make the ordinance ineffective.

CITIES NOT TO GET GAS TAX

City spokesmen, who thought they would get some gasoline tax money for their local governments after all, found out officially today that they had another think coming.

Two weeks ago, as city council representatives from Orange county municipalities were assured by all members of the board that "if there is any more than $295,000 when the allocation is made, we'll gladly allocate some of that to the cities."

Today a polite letter was to be written Thomas Kuchel, spokesman for the cities, telling him "the board does not think it is wise to obligate itself at present."

Studio Employe Drowns in Bay

Lew William Guiterrez, 23, M.G.M. studio laboratory worker, was swept to his death in Newport bay yesterday afternoon when he stepped into the deep channel of the harbor and sank.

His body was recovered this morning, when the tide apparently carried it back to almost the exact spot where he had sunk.

Guiterrez had been accompanied by Patricia Lucid, Beverly Hills. The body was taken to Dixon mortuary in Costa Mesa where Coroner Earl Abbey was to conduct an investigation.

The camel, though related to deer and cattle, has no horns, no second and fifth toes, and three stomachs instead of four.

Welcome Elks to Conclave

L. A. LEWIS and F. W. BIRNIE

Headed by Exalted Ruler Harold Brown, a delegation from Santa Ana Elks lodge No. 794 will attend sessions of the California State Elks association annual convention in Pasadena Sept. 23, 24 and 25, it was announced today.

Santa Ana's famous Elks double quartet, which captured first honors at the national grand lodge convention in Denver recently, will be featured in several convention programs.

Another notable representative from Orange county at the convention will be L. A. Lewis of Anaheim, president of the state association and member of the judiciary committee of the grand lodge. Lewis will preside at business sessions of the convention.

Lewis and Convention Chairman F. W. Birnie, above, smilingly extend Pasadena's invitation to the California State Elks association to attend the state convention to be held in Pasadena Sept. 23, 24 and 25.

WAR FEVER STIRS EUROPE

tween Europe's great communist and fascist states.

In a stern, unyielding mood, Moscow instructed her embassy in Rome to tell Italy that the fascist reply to a Soviet note charging Italian submarines with sinking two Russian freighters was "entirely unacceptable." Russia insistently repeated the accusations which Italy had angrily rejected.

At the same time Moscow demanded in effect that the Anglo-French sponsored Mediterranean conference scheduled for Friday should convict Italy of piracy in the Mediterranean. Russia also took sideswipes at Italy's fascist ally, Germany, in her note accepting the Anglo-French invitation to the conference.

The British cabinet was called into special session today to consider the cross-play of European rivalries born of Spain's civil war—a crisis that threatened to spread the conflict.

Warships Fail To Halt Attacks

LONDON. (AP)—New attacks on neutral ships showed plainly that "mystery" vessels terrorizing Mediterranean shipping have not been frightened by French and British men of war.

The 3000-ton British tanker Harpa was a torpedo target last night off the coast of North Africa, but escaped. Near the Italian island of Rhodes in the southeastern Aegean sea, the British-registered tanker Pegasus of the Socony-Vacuum Oil company reported she had been halted by a submarine flying the insurgent flag.

And today, near Algiers, the Spanish insurgent cruiser Canarias and seven government warships were reported in a raging naval battle.

In Paris, one section of the French press joined Soviet officials in accusing Italy of a part in the Mediterranean "piracy."

The socialist organ Le Populaire claimed definite knowledge that "the submarines in question were two Italian craft of the Archimedes type."

The newspaper formerly was directed by Vice-Premier Leon Blum.

Long Beach Taxi War Threatened

LONG BEACH. (AP)—Police today investigated destruction by fire here last night of a taxicab after it had been taken from the curb in the absence of its owner and operator, Charles N. Cummings.

They said it had been drenched with gasoline and set afire two miles from the point where it was stolen. Another taxicab of the same concern, police reported, was rammed and seriously damaged in traffic a few days ago. The officers ascribed the acts to a taxicab war that has broken out here sporadically during the last year.

Burglar Slips Away as Pants Slip Downward

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Jack J. Casson, who says he once served in the British army, was confident today his sense of decency saved a burglar his life early today.

A jeweler, Casson followed the thief into the street, pistol in hand. But just as he raised the gun to fire his pajama pants slipped. When he got them back in place the burglar was gone.

BOMBS BLAST REFUGEE TRAIN

off the Shanghai international settlement.

Three daring Chinese planes swooped down low over Japanese warships under cover of a moonless night and dropped bombs. Chinese artillery opened simultaneous fire on the Japanese lines in Hongkew.

BOMBERS TERRIFY

But the airmen's aim was bad. The air bombs only churned the river waters while Japanese anti-aircraft guns sprayed the skies with shrapnel.

Chinese denied a Japanese report that one plane was shot down over Pootung.

The French concession was terrorized when one of the Chinese bombers roared over it at no more than 500 feet, its exhaust streaking a trail of fire in the night sky.

Both the Chinese and Japanese meanwhile took action that increased the peril to foreigners remaining in China and virtually blasted the last hope for an American-British-French neutrality proposal.

The Shanghai office of the Chinese foreign ministry warned all foreign officials here of the danger to their shipping from Chinese air attacks.

WARN SHIPPERS

The ministry declared that Chinese warplanes and other coastal defenses would launch reprisals against Japanese warships to counteract the Japanese blockade of China's south and central coast.

It requested foreign navies and merchant marines to identify their vessels clearly and give Japanese ships a wide berth.

Six Chinese civilian sailors were killed and three injured when Japanese bombing planes dropped explosives on foreign-owned yachts anchored at Minghong up the Whangpoo.

British observers at Hongkong, British crown colony on the South China coast, reported growing fear there that the next phase of the Japanese campaign in South China might be seizure of Hainan island, the largest under Chinese sovereignity.

Three Japanese men-of-war were reported to have visited the island yesterday to make surveys.

DEFENDERS HOLD

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese in the north by Chinese machine gun fire west of Peiping. Strong Chinese mountain positions, using trench mortars and mountain artillery, endangered the over-extended Japanese flank and at least temporarily prevented a Japanese advance south from the former Chinese capital.

The strategic city of Paoshan, 12 miles north of Shanghai, was wrested from its Chinese defenders for a third time today after "monkey-like" Japanese engineers had blasted a way through its 40-foot high walls with bombs strapped to their backs.

A Japanese officer who witnessed the attack against the key city on the Northern Shanghai front said the eight engineers resembled nothing so much as monkeys as they scampered up the city's wall under a rain of rifle fire and hand grenades.

Ladders were placed stealthily for them to climb and the eight, risking almost sure death with 48 bombs strapped on their backs, mined the walls under the protection of heavy Japanese machine gun fire.

The walls burst asunder with a terrific detonation and the eight, miraculously unhurt save for minor wounds, returned to their regiments and then helped fight their way into the city alongside their comrades who hailed them heroes.

CHINESE SHOOT DOWN 61 JAPAN PLANES

NANKING. (AP) — The Chinese government announced today that 61 Japanese warplanes had been shot down and 11 damaged in three Central China provinces in the 17 days from Aug. 14 to 31.

The national aeronautical affairs commission said 29 planes were heavy bombers, 24 light bombers, five pursuit, and three seaplanes.

The commission said 48 of the planes belonged to Japan's highly praised north Formosan air fleet. The figures applied only to Chekiang, Kiangsu and Anhwei provinces.

HOSPITALITY GROUP SPURS PROGRAM

Reorganization of the chamber of commerce hospitality committee under chairmanship of John Price took place at a special meeting this morning in chamber offices.

Price has been ill for some time, but now is back in harness and is resuming his leadership of the committee. Members of the committee at the meeting this morning included Ivie Stein, Mrs. Erma B. McClelland, Wilbur Shook and C. I. McDonald.

TO BE ENLARGED

It was decided to enlarge the committee, and the following additional members were named: Robert F. Dunstan, Robert R. Schilling, Herbert Hill, J. Q. Adams, Stanley Ackerman, H. E. Mathews, Tom Geoghegan, Betty Rohrs, Mrs. Emma Childers and Mrs. Ida Weisseman.

The committee decided to continue the practice of sending letters of welcome to new householders, and named committees of two to call on all new business firms in the city. The latter committees will make calls each week, and will serve for a month each.

RECOMMEND SIGN

It was voted to recommend to the chamber directorate that a sign be placed on the 101 highway near the city limits informing visitors that free tourist information can be secured at the chamber.

Another new part of a planned program is to name sub-committees to contact tourists in their cars on the streets, and offer to be of service to them after extending them a welcome.

GIRL ADMITS SHOOTING LOVER

ISELIN, N. J. (AP)—A 20-year-old school girl admitted after hours of questioning today, Police Chief George E. Keating announced, that she fatally shot Paul Reeves, 25-year-old father of two children, when he attempted to assault her.

The Woodbridge township chief gave the girl's name as Margaret Drennan and said she was a student at a secretarial school. She was the "lady in red," Keating said, who was seen running from the bungalow where Reeves was shot to death in his bedroom last night.

Charged with murder, she entered a formal plea of innocent before Police Recorder Arthur Brown and was held without bail for grand jury action.

She had been taken into custody shortly after Reeves, a laborer employed at an Elizabeth Copper Products plant, was found nude and dying his room. His children, Paul, 5, and Emma, 2, were found whimpering under the sheets in their adjoining bedroom.

BAN ON CHILD LABOR HERE

Enforcement of child labor laws and school attendance laws in Orange county was ordered today by Warren D. Mendenhall, state supervisor of child welfare.

It has been a past policy in many districts to arrange school sessions for the minimum hours required by law, allowing the children to be dismissed from school attendance for a half day in order to help their parents in the walnut harvest.

A recent notice from the state department of education makes such provisions impossible for this year and calls upon school attendance officials to enforce rigidly the provisions of the child labor law and school attendance laws, Mendenhall said.

Aged Transients Rendezvous With Death Lasts 24 Hours

Hour after hour he lay bleeding on the beach, praying for death. The slashes on his wrists and arms had left him too weak to move, too weak to use the knife on himself again. The long night had been cold for an old man about to die. The hot sun had been torture.

The day dragged on. No one missed G. W. Roberts, 67, transient, because he had no relatives, no home.

J. T. Ellis, 610 Seventh street, Huntington Beach, saw a motionless form lying on the beach west of the Huntington Beach city limits. Te approached it. The figure moved slightly, mumbled something.

Ellis called authorities and the aged man was rushed to the county hospital. He died there last night. Coroner Earl Abbey and attending physicians said the slashes were not deep enough to have been fatal. It was exposure, coupled with loss of blood, that brought death, they said. The "death struggle" covered 24 hours.

"He told me he was trying to commit suicide," Ellis reported.

The body was taken to the Dixon mortuary, Huntington Beach, where an autopsy will be conducted. to fix the cause of death. Coroner Earl Abbey said there will be no inquest.

U. S. URGED TO AVOID WAR

the Oriental nations fight it out. Any Americans who stay in Shanghai now should be made to do so at their own risk.

"There's no American property there worth going to war for. If we were drawn in, it would cost 100,000 American lives—the pick of our country. That's certainly worth more than the $100,000,000 or whatever it is, that Americans have invested in China.

"We probably won't get pulled in. But if some American boat like the Chaumont were sunk, we'd be fighting in a minute."

Charles Dixon, a Spanish-American war veteran:

"As I see it, there are several things that might get us into the fight. One would be an agreement with France, England and Russia to put the clamps on Japan, who seems to be violating non-aggression agreements, and another would be an attempt by Japan to enforce a blockade that would interfere with American trade."

Dixon believes there is nothing the United States can do to be sure of saying out of the war, and he indicated he might heartily indorse a coalition of powers to take "police steps" against Japan.

Frank West, former American Legion post commander:

"The government should give our nationals reasonable time to clean up their business and get out of China. But meanwhile it should give them full protection." West said this country could avoid danger by refusing to sell munitions.

Glenn Hendrickson, another former V. F. W. post commander:

"It won't last long. But we might be dragged in if we tried to protect all of the private financial interests of our citizens abroad." He said Americans should stay out of China.

More cynical attitudes were expressed by other veterans, most of whom declined to be quoted.

"We'll stay out of war just as long as Wall street wants us to," said one. "We'll be fighting as soon as the big shots figure they can make a few hundred million dollars."

COUNCIL HITS PARK PLAN

Fond dreams of Councilman Earnest H. Layton for establishing a postage-stamp park in southeastern Santa Ana came tumbling down about his ears today.

The city council slapped down his proposal to buy land for the miniature park, by a vote of three to two. The opposition was led by the anti-Layton faction of the council, in the person of Councilman Joseph P. Smith.

Layton moved that the city purchase 2.57 acres of land located on the west side of Oak street between Myrtle and Bishop streets at a cost not to exceed $3700. His motion found a second, made by Councilman Plummer L. Bruns.

HELD BY BANK

When the votes came in, only Layton and Bruns favored the park purchase, with Mayor Fred C. Rowland, Trustees William Penn and Joseph P. Smith opposing it.

Layton explained that the property is being held in trust by the First National bank, and that it cannot hold the property much longer while waiting for action by the city. He said the project has met with favor of residents of the neighborhood, and would be used as a recreation center which would not be operated at night.

WANTS 'REAL PARK'

The park commissioner pointed out that purchase of the parksite would be in line with the city's announced policy of establishing four small recreational centers in the various parts of the city.

Smith objected to the entire procedure, saying he favors purchase of a park which would really be a city park. And when he said the purchase would cripple the general fund, Layton retorted:

"Don't worry, Mr. Smith. There will be some money left for your water department."

CARS COLLIDE

Slight property damage was caused in a collision between cars driven by Burton A. Baird, 316 West Santa Clara street, and Mrs. F. M. Carter, Tustin, at First and Lacy streets yesterday.

LES FOUNTAIN WILL MOVE

Lester J. Fountain, city manager of the Broadway and West Coast theaters, will leave Santa Ana the latter part of this week to assume a new and responsible position in Long Beach, The Journal learned today.

Fountain will become city manager of the Milton Arthur theaters in Long Beach, and will operate a chain of three theaters in that city. He will make his headquarters at the big State theater, the same showhouse that he opened in 1920.

Fountain was in charge of a chain of theaters in Long Beach for many years prior to coming to Santa Ana to manage the two local theaters. Milton Arthur also operates the theaters in Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton, for the Cabart Theaters Co., Inc.

Fountain has managed the local theaters for the past six years. He said today that he will continue to maintain his residence in this city, because he does not want to give up the valuable friendships he has made here. He has been a member of the local Rotary club.

Fountain will be replaced here by George King, who has been connected with the Long Beach chain in an executive capacity. A former New York man, King has had wide experience in the theatrical business. He was expected to arrive in Santa Ana today.

NEW DELAY FOR PAY BOOST

Supervisors' salary-revision mill ground on and on today, with no tangible results — which is the same story as for the past eight months.

Meanwhile women employes of the county gathered at the Y. W. C. A. last night and decided to abandon plans for a separate women's organization. They adopted a vote of confidence in leaders of the county office employes' association, which is working toward solidifying employes for a united stand against "gross injusties" in the wage scale.

Occasionally I meet some one from the great open spaces of credulity who put some money in an almond grove. I wouldn't condemn the industry, because I believe it will, under favorable conditions and economic operation, keep you out of the red, and a tractor in your grove, but my experience has been, along with my investing brothers, that the original figures submitted by the promoters and generously publicized, failed to come up to the estimates of the enthusiastic men who prepared the copy.

Some almond sections, under irrigation, are considered a consistent investment. Where natural rainfall is depended upon, well, there must be a lot of it. The Paso Robles section was abundantly favored last year, hence a bountiful crop of almonds. A continuation of ample rainfall will go a long distance toward improving the industry. From the standpoint of topography I am impressed with its beauty. The majestic oaks entrance you, the rolling hills around the Shandon district recall the Mid-West prairies, the mesquite is a shelter for the quail you love to eat, and Atascadero a memory of the Lewis promotion, under which a strong California concern is now putting in a firmer foundation.

By chance a contact with Bill Martin, of the "Phillippe" cafe on Aliso street, L. A., who roamed the district in the early '90's, and who still believes it has a great future, but not in nuts. Bill, if I remember the conversation correctly, was a cattle buyer. He says grain and live stock is a good bet. And when I venture a doubtful inquiry if oil wouldn't be better, but there isn't any, Bill says there is and I tell him to hurry and find it. If he does I'll spend 10 per cent of the income for sandwiches, and at his place of business.

Townsend News, Views

By WALTER R. ROBB

Orange county Townsendites will want to hear A. C. Hanson at 6:45 tonight when he addresses the Townsend mass meeting in Santa Ana Birch park. He will present the Townsend plan from a new angle. Tell your friends they are welcome.

A letter to the writer from Charles B. Kellogg, in Betteravia as an employe of the sugar beet factory there, tells of Townsend activities in that part of the state. From his letter it appears that the clubs are sticking with the doctor and that a recent attempt of C. E. Clements, former national secretary, to oragnize a club in Santa Maria, failed completely. He is a member of Club No. 10 of this city.

Santa Ana Club No. 1 will meet in the Roosevelt school on East First street at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow with Israel Santee, president, in charge. This club is the first organized in Santa Ana. A. G. Diehl, now deceased, was the promotional factor who quickly secured the necessary 100 members, making it possible for the club to get charter No. 1.

A. D. Marshall, president of the Huntington Beach Club No. 1, writes that a large audience was present to hear Mirandy from Los Angeles last Thursday night. The audience included delegations from Townsend clubs in Santa Ana, Anaheim, Oceanview and Costa Mesa. Also present was John W. Sauers, Tustin, member of the 19th district Townsend board. Tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Memorial hall the club will hear Col. Ralph D. Horton of Los Angeles, one of Southern California's most forceful Townsend speakers. Ice cream and light refreshments will be served after the lecture.

Santa Ana Club No. 3 will meet at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street with Phillip S. Doolittle in the chair. The public will be welcome.

Buena Park Club No. 1 holds its regular weekly meeting in the city clubhouse tomorrow night. President S. L. Skinner will preside.

J. Etta Bryant will be in charge of the Costa Mesa Club No. 1 meeting at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Townsend club building at 22nd and Newport boulevard. Last week the club held a mock wedding which is said to have been a source of great enjoyment.

All Fullerton Townsendites take notice of the meeting of Club No. 1 at 7:30 p. m. today in the Ebell clubhouse at East Chapman and Harvard avenues with Ota Everett in charge. Wednesday night will continue as the permanent time for this club to meet hereafter. Ice cream and cake will be served for 15 cents after the meeting tonight.

Harry Hayward of 806 Cypress street, member of Santa Ana Club No. 7, continues to improve, the writer learned when he spoke before the club last Friday evening. Mrs. Hellopetre of the same club is also recuperating nicely after a stay in St. Joseph's hospital.

The writer's daughter, Virginia Taylor, returned to her home in San Diego last Monday evening after a few days' stay at her parents' home while recuperating from a tonsil operation. Mrs. Robb accompanied the daughter home and so the writer is again practicing the culinary art for a week.

The following news item appeared in Monday's San Bernardino Sun: "Charters of two Riverside Townsend clubs, Nos. 6 and 10, were revoked because they had arranged to hear Congressman Harry R. Sheppard at a noon luncheon in Fairmount Park, Riverside, today, J. H. Walsh, district organizer, announced yesterday.

"Walsh said that the congressional district board has disqualified the congressman as speaker before any Townsend group."

The above should be a warning to all Orange county Townsend clubs. In Monday's local papers it was announced that Congressman Sheppard will set up headquarters in Santa Ana later this month. There is no doubt concerning the purposes of the congressman. It is now definitely known that he was a member of the General Welfare steering committee when it passed the resolution asking the Townsend clubs to change their names to that of General Welfare clubs, which he passed on to the 19th district Townsend club in his letter of June 9. The setting up of a local office by Congressman Sheppard and the activities that will emanate from it will doubtless soon make clear the true attitude of Mr. Sheppard, but that can easily be ascertained without allowing him to use the Townsend clubs as a medium for spreading his propaganda.

COUNTY ACTS TO TERMINATE WATER SUIT

Riley Opposes Settling Irvine Litigation

With Supervisor Harry Riley of Anaheim as the lone "no" voter, supervisors today had approved rescinding of a 15-year-old water spreading agreement, preliminary to settlement of the famous Irvine water spreading suit against upper-county interests.

Riley held up action on the rescission resolution for nearly an hour yesterday, while he telephoned friends in the Anaheim district who he said were "as well informed on the water situation as anyone here," and then voted against the resolution.

EXPERTS PRESENT

In the board room were A. J. McFadden, chairman of the recent flood control bond campaign; Willis Warner, chairman of the Orange County Water district board; C. A. Palmer, secretary; W. B. Hellis, manager of the huge Irvine ranch; A. W. Rutan, counsel for the water district, and other water leaders.

A compromise was reached several months ago in the suit brought by James Irvine, wealthy rancher, against upper-county interests responsible for what Irvine considered excessive spreading of Santa Ana river water, thereby lowering Orange county's underground water supply.

OTHERS ACT FIRST

Before the suit could be compromised, however, rescission of the 15-year-old spreading agreement was necessary by Orange, San Bernardino, and Riverside counties. The other two counties had voted to rescind the agreement, but Orange county held the matter over when it came up for action six weeks ago.

McFadden urged speed in rescission of the agreement yesterday afternoon, remarking that upper-county interests already are trying to "pick holes" in the stipulations which will end the suit in a manner which he and other leaders considered advantageous to this county.

DEMAND ACTION

"It will be all right for this board to wait for an hour," he said after Riley had told the board he wanted to call water leaders in the third district, "but we want action before this session ends."

Riley said leaders in his district had been against the original agreement, but that he had heard nothing for the past six weeks and considered the matter had been dropped. After telephoning to Anaheim and talking with Palmer and Warner in the supervisors' "huddle room," Riley cast the lone negative vote.

EXPLAINS STAND

Explaining his stand, the Anaheim supervisor said his informers had been against rescinding the agreement six weeks ago and he believed they still were. He said he was in favor of anything that would help Orange county's water situation, and that he favored majority rule, but that he was unable to support the motion.

The same resolution passed by the Orange county board of supervisors already has been adopted by the Riverside and San Bernardino supervisors. All that remains to be done now to complete the settlement is for affixing of two more signatures. One of them is that of Francis Cuttle, president of the Water Conservation association, who has been authorized by his board to sign it. The other is Willis H. Warner, chairman of the board of directors of the Orange County Water district. He also has been authorized to sign it after Cuttle has signed. James Irvine has signed the agreement.

Under terms of the settlement agreement the upper counties will not spread Santa Ana river water until a stipulated flow passes a measuring point at Prado. Formerly the measuring point was at the Chapman street bridge.

CHIEF SCORED ON COST OF SEATTLE TRIP

Police Chief Floyd Howard's junket to Seattle along with Mrs. Howard, to return for trial Mildred Maynard on bad check charges, came in for a blast from Supervisor John Mitchell yesterday, as the Garden Grove supervisor voted against Howard's $148.99 expense account for the trip.

Howard's expense account included $1 breakfasts, $1.25 lunches, and $1.50 dinners. Mitchell's objection, however, was not to the high price of food eaten by Mr. and Mrs. Howard.

"The reason I'm voting against allowing this claim," Mitchell said, "is that Howard did not go directly to Seattle by the shortest route. He went along the redwood highway and by way of the Oregon coast."

Other supervisors, however, voted to allow Howard's claim, which was made against the county treasury because Mrs. Howard was a county prisoner, although Howard held the warrant for her arrest. The claim had been rejected temporarily by Auditor W. T. Lambert and sent to the board for approval or rejection. It was checked as a legal claim by District Attorney W. F. Menton.

4-H Group Back From Convention

Thirty members of Orange county 4-H clubs returned to their homes Sunday after attending the twenty-second annual state 4-H club convention at Davis. The group left Santa Ana on Sept. 1.

Harry Hoskins, a senior member from Anaheim, and Rose Pelous, a senior member from Buena Park, were appointed captains at the camp and were in charge of a group of delegates. Miss Ruth Davis of Anaheim, a senior club member, presented an exhibition of baton handling that was very well received, on a program of amateur acts.

The Orange county delegates were accompanied by R. E. Launer of La Habra and Mrs. G. D. Griset of Tustin, local club leaders, and Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor.

Attending from Orange county were Donald Rails, Santa Ana; Joe Lieb, jr., John Hastings, Kenneth Lindley, Harry Hoskins, John McLeod, Ruth Davis, Esther Benson, Lucille Kelley and Virginia Stankey, Anaheim; Alfred Boehner, West Orange; Jack Griset, Neil Chadick, Margaret and Henrietta Griset, Tustin; Russell Makely, Costa Mesa; Robert O'Neill, La Habra; David Fairbairn, Eddie Ehman and Nora Linnartz, Olive; Bob Kaub, Bob Osborne, Arthur Martin, Rose and Sophie Pelous, and Constance Swain, Buena Park, and Ruth Shoemaker, Tustin.

'Y' Leaders Will Plan Programs

Y. M. C. R. leaders will hold an organization dinner meeting to lay plans for the autumn program at the Santa Ana "Y" building tomorrow evening, it was announced today.

Discussion of a new group membership plan, highlight of the fall schedule, will feature the meeting, which will start at 6:15 p. m. Reservations are being taken all day today.

A "Raggers'" meeting also was announced for 6:15 p. m. next Monday, when boys who participated in Y. M. C. A. camps this summer will renew acquaintances and discuss policies for next year.

A busy man is Nelson Johnson, United States ambassador to China. He is concerned with safety of Americans living in that war-stricken nation. A crisis such as this is nothing new to Johnson, who has spent half his life in the Far East.

COUNTY ENTERS BEACH PARADE

Orange county will be represented by eight entries in the annual Admission Day celebration and parade to be held in Santa Monica tomorrow, commemorating the 87th anniversary of California's entrance into the union.

Of special interest among the entries will be the float of the local Native Sons and Daughters chapter, which will depict agricultural, educational, historical, and sporting activities in Orange county.

Other local entries will include the Huntington Beach band, El Rodeo silver mounted riding club, a stage coach by the Grace Parlor, Placential Native Daughters, and decorated cars bearing the Huntington Beach chamber of chamber of commerce, the Santa Ana mayor and city council, the Newport-Balboa mayor and city council, and officers of the Santa Ana parlor Native Sons and Daughters.

Stop Sign Gone! Cars Collide

An accident that occurred last Friday was blamed today for another crash at the same intersection.

Mrs. Florence Mergerette Rasmussen, 1120 North Olive street, who moved here recently from Minnesota, assertedly ran through a boulevard stop at Fifth and Flower streets yesterday and her car was struck by a car driven by Manuel Perreiru, Santa Ana.

The stop sign on Flower street, according to police records, had been knocked down last Friday and had not been replaced.

WILLIAMS TO HEAD CHEST DRIVE UNIT

Announcement was made today by D. G. Tidball, general chairman of the Community Chest campaign, that W. B. Williams has accepted the chairmanship of the advance gifts committee of the campaign.

The advance gifts committee handles solicitation of a limited number of business concerns and individuals who may be expected to subscribe to the charity and welfare fund in larger than average amounts. Chairman Williams is heading this committee for the third consecutive year. He is cashier of the First National bank.

In discussing this year's campaign problems, Williams said:

"Up to last year when the goal was almost raised, Santa Ana had been lagging far behind comparable cities in the support given the Community Chest. This year I feel confident that the people of our city will exert every effort both in service in the campaign and in giving in order that the full goal may be raised. This must be done if our social service agencies are to give a full measure of service to our less fortunate people and to the character training of our boys and girls. As a matter of civic pride, also, the campaign must be 100 per cent successful."

The general campaign will be launched early in October and plans are being pushed forward rapidly at campaign headquarters which have been opened in the Elks club basement.

Arrest Woman in War on Thieves

The second step in a move to round up what officers believe may be a ring of Southern California burglars was taken by Santa Ana police yesterday when they arrested a woman wanted for questioning by Long Beach police.

The woman, who gave her name as Bessie Munger, 32, 1773½ Orange street, Long Beach, was arrested after she had visited with Neal Sargent, held in the county jail for preliminary hearing on a charge of attempting to commit a burglary at Asher's jewelry store here last week. She was turned over to Long Beach police shortly after the arrest.

Sargent, meanwhile, was held in answer to the superior court bail was left at $20,000 in a preliminary hearing shortly after noon today.

Names to be inscribed in the Hall of Fame in New York are chosen every five years.

Drunk Drivers Fined $150 Each

Three drunk driving fines of $150 each and a $20 speeding fine highlighted yesterday's session of Judge J. G. Mitchell's police court.

The three charged with drunk driving, Alberto Garibaldi, Los Angeles; E. J. Wickersheim, Orange, and Heldioro Sandoval, Santa Ana, all were committed to county jail in lieu of the $150 fines.

Tony Silerio, Santa Ana, was fined $20 for traveling 60 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone.

Other speeding fines:

Robert A. Olin, Los Angeles, $6; Lewis H. Wilbrandt, Santa Ana, $8; Jack B. Conner, Tustin, $6; Clarence Humphries, Bellflower, $10; Jerome L. Hastings, San Diego, $8; Charles L. Wilson, Orange, $8, and Charles W. Stocker, Santa Ana, $8.

Honor Local Riders at Rodeo

Seven members of the Orange El Rodeo club who appeared independently at the Oceanside San Luis Rey fiesta last week-end, were honored and won honors. John E. Wagner of Placentia took first prize in the men's silver-mounted outfit, Mrs. E. Pyle, second and Bob Chambers, third.

Mrs. Otto McClure was first in ladies mounted silver outfit, Mrs. R. H. McAllister, second and Mrs. Margaret Shaw, third.

Gene Thomas of Tustin was selected as grand marshal of the parade. He appeared on his black mare with silver outfit.

George Boyd of Santa Ana, an enthusiastic member of the Orange County Rodeo club, was an interested spectator and participant.

SEWER PLAN SPURNED BY ORANGE

Council Refuses to Act on Rent Proposal

ORANGE.—The City of Orange turned thumbs down on a proposition whereby the city would either repair part of the outfall sewer line or pay rent for use of the line at a council meeting here last night.

Nat Neff, representing member cities in the outfall district, made the request. Previously, Orange had moved to withdraw from the district and construct a disposal plant.

City Attorney Gordon X. Richmond said no action has been taken by any city so far relative to granting this permission to withdraw. Therefore Orange cannot enter into any agreement with any city or group of cities to repair the existing line, without jeopardizing the city's position legally if it wishes to push the withdrawal.

Richmond said when other cities answer the request of Orange, the city will then enter into a contract with the district to rent the line for the period necessary, at a suitable price, but he did not advise the city to adopt the resolution to repair the section under discussion.

Neff asked that the city join the others in order that a WPA project could be submitted for the repair before winter rains start. The resolution was not indorsed.

FARM CENTER TO OPEN YEAR

VILLA PARK.—After a vacation of two months, the Foothill Farm center will resume meetings Thursday evening at the Villa Park social hall, with W. D. Miller, secretary of the Orange County Production Credit association, as speaker. He will talk on "Production Credit Available to Farmers."

Reports of their trip to the 4-H convention will be made by Edward Ehman and David Fairbairn. Director Ralph Hull will give committee reports.

A semi-potluck supper will be served by the home department. Coffee, rolls and dessert will be furnished by the center. President W. C. Armstrong will preside.

Grove Center To Meet Thursday

GARDEN GROVE.—A pot-luck supper has been planned for the first meeting of the Garden Grove Farm Center following the vacation period, to be held Thursday evening at the Woman's clubhouse.

The program will include a discussion of the fall and winter pest control work in this area led by D. W. Tubbs, county agricultural commissioner. A. D. Smiley will give the director's report and entertainment will be provided by Billie Bob Messecar of Anaheim who will give buck tap dances, Loralee Buell of Santa Ana with variety dances and her brother Bruce Buell with vocal numbers.

County Acquires Newbert Property

Orange county's flood control district today had taken over equipment of the almost-defunct Newbert Protection district, at a cost of $1000. The equipment includes a truck and miscellaneous materials.

The Newbert district is awaiting legislative approval of its disbanding. Meanwhile, to avoid collection of what amounts to a double tax from property owners in that district for county and local flood control, the larger district has taken over operation of the Newbert area, which includes the lower Santa Ana river.

La Habra Sewer Project Rushed

LA HABRA.—Work on an extension of the sewer line of the La Habra sanitary sewer district is under way, with labor provided by WPA. The work will cost about $17,000.

Although the project, started some time ago, serves but a few houses, anticipated growth of the district where the line is being placed has been considered by the council in extending from the end of the present lateral on North Hiatt street to the alley north of Greenwood street.

G. G. Mission Meeting Slated

GARDEN GROVE.—Missionary societies of the First Methodist church will meet Thursday in the parsonage garden for an out-of-door session starting to 10:30 a. m.

Business sessions during the morning will be followed by a pot-luck luncheon with program during the afternoon. The first chapters of a new study book will be presented by Mrs. J. O. Arkley.

VISITS IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. E. Schneider has as her house guest this week Mrs. Louise Solomon of Redondo who formerly was a resident of Westminster.

In company with the former's daughter, Mrs. A. A. Schnitger, they plan to attend the Old Timer's picnic at Westminster, also the former home of the Schneiders, Thursday.

PARK SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY

BUENA PARK. — With other schools of Orange county, the Buena Park Grammar school will open its doors Sept. 13 for the fall term, with regular classes scheduled to start at 8:40 a. m., according to announcement of Rolland Upton, superintendent.

Three new teachers are included on the staff, and Mrs. Marie T. Beck, who has been on a year's leave of absence, will be returned as school nurse.

New teachers are Miss Ruth Saylor as teacher of arithmetic in the seventh and eighth grades, taking the place of Mrs. Elizabeth Sherred, who has accepted principalship at the Yorba school; Miss Nina Duden, who will replace Mrs. James Loomis, who has been granted a leave of absence from the Lindbergh school, and Miss Verna Kenzie, to replace Miss Katherine Smith as teacher of sixth grade at Grand Avenue school.

Sunday School Holds Picnic

YORBA LINDA.—Members of the Yorba Linda Friends church Sunday school held their annual picnic at Irvine park Friday afternoon and evening. A varied program of sports was had.

To make the contests more interesting, the group was divided into two sides, the "Reds," captained by Viola Renneker and composed of members of the Bible class, Homemakers class, Maria Henley's class, Franklin Marshburn's class, George Plumb's class and Mamie Kennon's class and the "Whites" under the captaincy of Abraham Lincoln and composed of the Get Busy class, Young People's class, Allen Dyer's class, Mrs. J. N. Rountree's class, Mrs. P. H. Ross' class and Mrs. Ruby Kennon's class.

A loud speaker for the occasion was loaned by W. H. Barton. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. Maria W. Henley, Mrs. Marie Murray and Mr. Geo. R. Plumb.

Toastmasters Have Contest

ORANGE.—J. A. Porter won first place in speaking at a meeting of the Orange Toastmaster's club Thursday night in the Sunshine Broiler. His topic was "Beyond the Horizon."

Toastmaster was Theron Willis. Other speakers were Kenneth King and James Donegan. Critics were Henry Bosch, Arthur Sipherd, W. C. Armstrong, and the general critic was James Goode. Tom Clark was diction critic.

LAGUNA TURTLE RACES POPULAR

LAGUNA BEACH.—The turtle races this Sunday were augmented because Juan Cadiz, sponsor of the races, had six additional races using regulation size turtles rather than midgets used previously.

Mike Rosener came through again as big winner of four races. Bob Vincent and M. J. Delaney came through again as winners. Dede Percifull, Dona Dean and Anne Tompkins rather dominated winnings for the girls—last week there were more boy-winners. Elvin Holmwood also won a prize. Cadiz was ably assisted by Referee Walter Lamb, sculptor and writer.

Approximately 35 youngsters participataed, with a crowd of 200 beachers watching the turtles on the canvas.

ANNUAL ROAD MEETING SET

BREA.—Brea, where the first meeting of the Imperial Highway association was held more than eight years ago, again will be host to the group of road builders at the annual meeting Oct. 30, according to announcement of George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, secretary.

This straight 225-mile highway, being constructed from El Segundo to El Centro, is continuously advancing, and will be completed from Yorba Linda through new territory and across the Santa Ana river before many months have passed, according to Kellogg.

Oceanview P.-T. A. Meeting Slated

OCEANVIEW.—Members of the executive board of the Oceanview P.-T. A. will hold their first meeting of the school year Wednesday when Mrs. Raymond Beem will be hostess at her ranch home at an all-day session with a covered-dish luncheon to be served at noon.

The president, Mrs. P. H. Marshall will preside at the business meeting scheduled for 10:45 o'clock. Plans for the year's work will be discussed and arrangements will be completed for the annual teachers reception, slated for the evening of Sept. 15. Edith Brush will entertain with a musical program in the afternoon.

Classmates Feted at Affair

GARDEN GROVE.—Miss Janice Dale entertained Friday evening at the Pine street home of her sister, Mrs. Harry L. Lake, a group of former classmates at the Garden Grove High school, it being the custom of the group to meet occasionally to renew friendships.

Miss Billy McConnell was awarded a prize for cards. The hostess, with the assistance of her sister, served a dessert course. Guests inclued Mrs. Valoe Applebury, Santa Ana; Mrs. Virginia Grafton, Arlington; Mrs. Frances Stanbro, Yorba Linda; Lois Mark, Margaret Schauer and Joy and Ferne Schnitger.

Journal's Financial, Citrus, Produce

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—The stock market regained its balance today and turned in gains of fractions to a point or more.

Tuesday's war threat scare left an early current of Wall Street fear in its wake and up to midday stocks swung irregularly on active dealings. Selling dried up later in most sectors and a creeping recovery set in.

Aiding the rise, brokers said, were cables from London stressing observers in that center were much more alarmed by yesterday's crack in equities here than by possibilities of war. Also reminding financial circles of relatively good business conditions were estimates indicating higher carloadings and the General Motors corporation report citing highest August world dealer sales on record.

Wall Street men said "margin" selling had been well absorbed. While reports on foreign buying and selling conflicted, some said demand had outweighed offerings.

Transactions approximated 2,200,000 shares.

S. A. Parks Lure 142,825 Persons

Attendance at Santa Ana parks and recreational centers hit a mark of 142,825 during the year ending Sept. 1, it was announced last night at city council meeting by Street and Park Commissioner E. H. Layton.

Layton read an attendance report submitted by City Park Superintendent Dale Griggs.

Total attendance at the municipal bowl was 53,698, including attendance at nightball and football games. Despite the fact that it has not yet been officially opened, the Santiago creek park had an attendance of 15,229. Jack Fisher park drew 13,200 and recreation centers 7650.

Child Marriage Spouse in Jail

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—William H. Grimes, 67, share cropper, was sentenced to two six months terms in the Butler county jail today after he pleaded guilty to falsifying a marriage license affidavit and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Grimes was arrested July 29 two days after he had married Mary Frances Grimes, 11-year-old daughter of William Alexander.

After sentence had been pronounced, Grimes said he would not contest court action to annul his marriage to the child providing he could get back the money he paid for the marriage license.

"It's just like paying for a horse and not getting him," Grimes told Judge R. I. Cope.

Henry Ford, William Randolph Hearst and David Lloyd-George are all the same age, 74.

STREETS IN DELHI TO BE IMPROVED

Promise of Action Is Made by Layton

Street Commissioner E. H. Layton ended the battle between residents of Delhi and the city for improvement of Delhi streets last night by announcing in council meeting that the city will do some work on the Mexican settlement streets.

Some time ago the council was presented with a petition signed by 42 business and professional men, stating that Delhi streets are in sorry shape and are impassable in the rainy season.

Then Matt Lujan, unofficial mayor of Delhi, started action to withdraw Delhi from the city limits, believing that in that way he might have better luck getting street improvements from the county. He even expressed the hope that Layton would wait until the rainy season to make a tour of the streets, so the councilman would get stuck in the mud.

So Layton and City Engineer J. L. McBride made a personal tour of the streets. And last night Layton said that cost of fixing up the Delhi streets would be excessive as compared with value of the territory served, but that gravel can be added to the streets until they can be built up to absorb oil. The work will be done later in the year he said.

Council Demands 'Audience' at Its Meetings

Members of the city council like an audience when they transact their business.

Last night the trustees attracted but two persons during most of the session. And those two were appointive employes of the city.

Which may be one of the reasons why the council last night passed a motion officially "requesting" heads of all city departments to sit in on meetings of the council.

Councilman William Penn indicated that the council was tired of seeing the special table purchased for use of the department heads devoid of the presence of the city officials. So he moved successfully that department heads be requested to come and watch the city dads pass motions, adopt resolutions, argue about city business, etc.

Business Gains Shown in Reports

Improvement in general economic conditions in Santa Ana was reflected last night in monthly reports submitted by heads of city departments.

Plumbing Inspector H. O. Crowe reported issuance of 103 plumbing permits with a value of $12,159 and fees of $210.50, and 20 sewer permits, with $20 in fees.

Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen reported issuance of 103 building permits with a value of $116,278 and fees amounting to $366, and 23 plastering permits with fees of $132.10.

The electrical department, through Inspector W. O. Packard, report issuance of 76 permits with fees totaling $216.55.

Police Judge J. G. Mitchell informed the council in his report that he collected fines totaling $3186.75 during the month.

Deny Permit for Poultry Yard

Application of James A. Demetrioux to conduct a commercial poultry yard and to keep about 250 chickens at 1043 West Myrtle street was denied by the city council last night. The council followed the recommendation of the planning commission.

The council approved an application of Ronald Shearme to erect a two-family dwelling at 918 West Pine street after a public hearing was held on the matter and no objections voiced.

A public hearing was set for Sept. 20 on an application of George S. Prentice to erect a two-family dwelling at 532 Linwood street. The property will be posted for special use.

Urge S. A. Protest On MWD Strike

A request that the city of Santa Ana, member of the Metropolitan water district, protest to the MWD board failure to get together with striking workmen was made last night by a representative of the striking union.

Roy Hoskinson, chairman of the negotiations committee for the MWD union, affiliated with the CIO, appeared before the council to explain the stand taken by the union. He said the union is asking the district only to put into writing what has been promised the workmen orally.

BICYCLES STOLEN

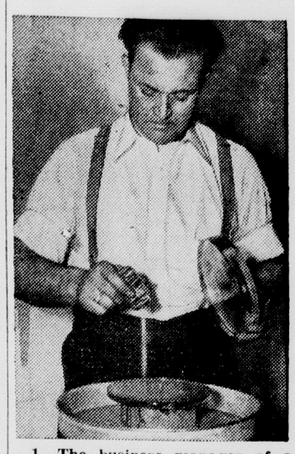

Three bicycles, two of which had been parked in front of a theater at Fourth and Birch streets, were reported stolen last night. Lloyd Olds, 122 South Artesia and B. A. Nelson, 414 West Sixteenth street, had left their bicycles in a rack in front of the theater when they went to the show, and Mrs. Forest Cook, 507 Minter street, reported her daughter's bicycle stolen from in front

Telescope Makers Get No Thrill From Stars

By EDWIN J. M'KAY

PHILADELPHIA. (AP) — Nearly 100 amateurs from all walks of life devote spare evenings at Franklin institute to the painstaking task of making telescopes —which they may never use. Most of them take no interest in the stars outside of a look or two after the instrument is finished. To them, telescope making is just another hobby. Here's how they do it:

1—The business manager of a Philadelphia paper shakes abrasive on one of two round plates of glass.

2—An office secretary grinds the top piece, which is to be the finished mirror, against the bottom.

3—A portrait photographer completes the task by polishing the upper plate still deeper to form a paraboloid.

4—A radio engineer uses the knife edge test, which shows up tiny flaws, to determine the mirror's accuracy.

5—Another engineer takes a squint with the completed job. Stars are reflected from mirror at bottom to focus at top.

MAY BUY SCRAPER

Authorization to Road Supt. A. A. Beard to rent for a month a five-foot scraper, with a possibility of buying it for $2600 later, was given yesterday by the board of supervisors. Beard told the board the scraper was in the budget, was needed, and could be rented for approximately $200 for a month. Then, if the county wants to buy it, he said the rental paid would apply on the purchase price.

DEFER ORANGE SEWER ACTION

Action by the city council on a request from the city of Orange for permission to launch negotiations for withdrawal from the outfall sewer district was delayed last night.

At the last meeting the council had referred the matter to City Attorney Lew Blodget, asking him for a written opinion on the question.

Last night Blodget said he had not understood that the council wanted a written opinion, and asked for more time in which to prepare it.

Orange wishes to withdraw from the Joint Outfall Sewer district, of which Santa Ana is a member, and wants to build its own treatment plant just north of Santa Ana, near the river. Objection to building a sewage disposal plant so close to the fine residential section in the northern part of the city has arisen here.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Vernon Powell, 21, 504 West Culver street, Orange, was booked in the county jail yesterday on a misdemeanor drunk driving count. He was arrested in Newport Beach.

TO GIVE PLAY AT CONCERT

Plans for staging a special attraction at Birch park tomorrow night on the same program with the NYA band concert were announced today.

Directed by Mrs. Kathryn Brooke, WPA recreation leader, a play entitled "The Fairy Gold" will be staged in the bandstand shell, which will be transformed into a forest setting.

Twelve small girls from the drama group will have parts in the play. They are Helen Rogers, Wilma Lee Whisenan, Onlo Armstrong, Virginia Allen, Maxine Wilsie, Dorothy Bishop, Mary Lou Barrett, Audrey Porter, Natalie Meriwether, Marjorie Henry, Maxine McWilliams and Ruth Roberts.

At the close of the play craft work, French lace and water colors done by the children will be on display.

STORE MANAGEMENT

Designed especially to meet the needs of independent store owners, a course in retail store management will be offered by university college, adult evening division of the University of Southern California, with the opening of the fall quarter on Sept. 20.

Japa nese Guard Vital Railway

Behind sandbag barricades, Japanese soldiers take up positions at Tengtai, in North China, along the vital Peiping-Hankow railroad, which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was reported to plan to use to transport Chinese troops against Japanese in the latest crisis.

ELKS TEAM TO SEEK TITLE

Members of the Santa Ana Elks club ritualistic team were busy today preparing for one of the most important events of the year, scheduled to take place at Long Beach Friday night.

At that time the local team will compete with Glendale lodge's team for the ritualistic championship of Southern California. The contest will be staged on neutral ground in Long Beach.

Winner of the Southern California contest will compete with two other teams at the state convention in Pasadena late this month. The Southland winner will compete with the winner of the central state district, Fresno, and with the northern winner, Marysville.

Santa Ana's team won the southern division contest, and Glendale the south central division. Members of the local team are Harold R. Brown, exalted ruler; William W. Garvin, leading knight; Ridley C. Smith, loyal knight; Ben W. Osterman, lecturing knight; George E. Bradley, esquire; Charles V. Doty, chaplain, and Joe E. Harless, inner guard.

Ropes can be had as small as 3-16th of an inch in diameter.

ODDS and ENDS

By PAUL WRIGHT

If the football scoreboard paid off in weight, our Saints and Dons would be sitting pretty.

Boys with 190 and 200-pound frames have been few and far between at Santa Ana High school since Coach "Tex" Oliver's championship "beef trust" of 1931, but the situation is different this fall.

Among the Saints who fall in the above classification are Bill Musick, fullback; Larry Stump and Jack McClure, tackles; Bob Maddock, Monte Klepper and Harry Ashen, guards. There are other lesser-lights.

* * *

Down at the junior college, the potential first-stringers of the heavyweight variety are Russell (Red) Roquet, Dick Tauber, Pete Kotlar and Virgil Stevens, tackles; Joe Crawford, guard and fullback; and "Wee Willie" McNeil of Orange, guard and tackle.

Weight isn't everything, but it helps.

John Wilcox, live-wire who handles the business affairs of Santa Ana's Stars, made a trip into Northern California last week, visiting Glenn Stockbridge, onetime Santa Ana pitching great; John Wollomes, ex-Star scorekeeper; and John (Sky) Dunlap, Santa Ana's six-foot-seven newshawk who is manager of a Fresno news bureau.

* * *

The scribes call him just plain "Bill," but the Saints' 190-pound senior and fullback, Musick, signs his name "Billie." His brother Bob, a member of Coach Reese (Pinky) Greene's sophomores, is known as "Bobbie."

* * *

Five hundred and eighty-two golfers have aced a hole on United States courses this year, according to the Associated Press . . . Indiana and Minnesota divot-diggers top the nation with 72 and 57 hole-in-one club members, respectively.

Winson Portous, sports editor of the Frances Willard "Echo," weekly publication, will handle junior high school sports for The Journal this year.

HELEN STEPHENS BECOMES PRO

CHICAGO. (AP)—Three outstanding women athletes deserted the amateur ranks today to cash in on their track and field prowess.

Byron Schoeman, Chicago promoter, said Helen Stephens, Fulton, Mo.; Dee Boeckman, St. Louis, and Betty Robinson, Chicago, signed professional contracts with him.

RUSSIAN AIDS RODGERS AT ANAHEIM

San Bernardino Nine Gains 3-1 Edge in S. A. Defeat at Bowl

San Bernardino's Ponies almost kicked the Santa Ana Stars right out of the Shaughnessy playoffs with a tenth-inning 4-2 victory here last night, but their pennant hopes also faded in the shower rooms when they learned that Louie Neva had rejoined Huntington Beach.

Neva, the Russian youth who is regarded as the greatest softball pitcher in the game, has just returned from a successful baseball season with Ponca City, Okla., of the Western Association, and will be available for the Oilers tonight.

Huntington Beach hold a 2-1 edge over Anaheim, and probably will start Frank (Chico) Sabella at Anaheim tonight. Neva will be in suit, and will be called upon if necessary, Manager Joe Rodgers said.

Jack Dugan, the hard - luck pitcher, limited San Bernardino to six hits, but one of them was a double by Eddie Weiser who ignited the fireworks in the tenth and broke a 2-2 deadlock with the Stars. Leading three games to one, San Bernardino's players hope to wind up the series on their home field tomorrow night.

Santa Ana led, 1-0, until the sixth when San Bernardino pushed across two runs on a walk, sacrifice and successive singles by Bill Sweet and Glenn Kelley. The Stars evened the count in the last of the sixth when Fred Wiemer bunted. Catcher Kelley picked up the ball, and threw too hard to First-Baseman Sweet, and the ball rolled into rightfield as the long-legged Wiemer made a lightning-like rush to third base. He scored on Charley Comstock's single to center. Centerfielder Rosy Gilhousen pegged to first to catch Comstock, but Umpire Wayne Nelson ruled he was safe, stirring up a bitter argument.

San Bernardino started the terrible tenth with Ted Schletzer singling to center. Wayne Watson's sacrifice preceded Bob Fowler's pop fly to short. Weiser, with two strikes on him, planted a hard fly against the leftfield embankment, scoring Schletzer with what proved the winning run. Ed Daleys' double to center brought in Weiser.

The Stars started off with Tommy Young singling in the last of the tenth, but Joe Wallin hit into a double play with a liner, Third-Baseman Ray Shaddux to Sweet.

Southpaw Fowler was nicked for nine hits, including two by Coots and Wallin, but managed to win despite these solid blows and three infield errors. . . . Jimmy Coates will return from Visalia to pitch for the Stars at San Bernardino tomorrow night.

WRIGHT SCORES OVER HANSFORD

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Chalky Wright, negro featherweight, punched his way to a methodical victory over Georgie Hansford in a 10-round main event here last night.

The two local fighters, who drew in a bout several weeks ago, were more cautious in their second meeting.

The Coach's Busy Day . . .

WORRY

WORK

There is some time for football in the early days of football training, strange as that may seem. Here Warner, a veteran of many campaigns, explains plays, charted on the blackboard, to his team.

WATCHING

The coach watches while his players limber up. In this case they are jump-running down a row of auto tires. The coach did this himself once. But he doesn't have to any more.

SLEEP

The coach even sleeps football. Sometimes he gets in a little of that sleeping on the football field—after his strenuous day. Or maybe this is another publicity photo.

TROJANS WILL ENLIST FOUR SANTA ANANS

Reid, Robinson and Crowther to Join Norton at U. S. C.

LOS ANGELES.—Keen competition for places on the University of Southern California football varsity is assured this season as a tentative roster indicated 75 candidates would greet Coach Howard Jones when practice opens tomorrow on Bovard field. It is expected that this number will be swelled to approximately 100 as fall training gets well under way next week.

Tomorrow will mark the opening of football practice all along the Pacific Coast conference front, with hopes high at U. C. L. A., California, Washington and Stanford. University of California at Berkeley has been installed an early-season favorite to wrest the crown from Washington's Huskies.

Competition is expected to be the strongest for the U. S. C. end positions, where there are four lettermen returning in Capt. "Chuck" Williams, Gene Hibbs, Ray Wehba and Ralph Stanley and splendid prospects up from the frosh in Bill Fisk and Jim Slatter.

The leading 50 candidates for the Trojan varsity who are expected to report tomorrow include:

Right halfbacks—Lyman Russell, Oklahoma City; Wayne Hoffman, Montebello; Glen Galvin, Huntington Park; Mickey Anderson, Pasadena; Boyd Morgan, Holtville.

Fullbacks—Bill Sangster, Pasadena; Angelo Peccianti, Martinez; Dick Berryman, Long Beach; Daniel Boone, Compton; Roy Engle, San Diego.

Pool, Garibaldi in Coast League Tie With .337 Averages

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Harlan Pool of Seattle and Art Garibaldi of Sacramento were in a tie today for the batting leadership of the Pacific Coast league, with Marvin Gudat of Los Angeles only one point behind them in second place.

The averages showed Pool and Garibaldi were hitting at a .337 clip. Garibaldi has poled 17 home runs to four by Pool. Detore, San Diego catcher, and Thompson, San Diego outfielder, complete the first five in the percentage table.

The San Francisco Seals lead in team batting wtih an average of .285, closely followed by San Diego and Oakland with .284, and Los Angeles and the San Francisco Missions, with .283.

MIDGET RACING RECORDS FALL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Karl Young, star of the 1936 midget auto season, shook off his current hoodoo last night, smashing four records in four races at the Atlantic boulevard stadium.

Winning by more than 200 yards, Young set a mark of 11 minutes 2.23 seconds in the 40-lap main event. Trailing him, in order, were Don Welsh, Bob Swanson, Peewee Distarce, Lou Schneider and Andy Guthrie.

Young went on to win the three-lap trophy dash from Don Welsh, turned a one-lap qualifying sprint in 15.93 seconds and annexed the first five-lap qualifying heat in 1 minute 21.01 seconds.

Woman Member Of Baseball Class

KANSAS CITY. (American Wire)—When Miss Lucy Smoot returns to her eighth-grade students this fall she will know what she is doing when she supervises the baseball games during recess. She was the only woman enrolled in Columbia university's baseball course this summer.

OLYMPIC ACES SWIM AGAIN

CHICAGO. (AP)—The backbone of America's last Olympic swimming forces, Jack Medica of Seattle, Wash.; Adolph Kiefer, Chicago's youthful backstroke marvel, and Peter Fick of New York, will spend a share of the next three days in Lake Michigan, seeking new National A. A. U. honors.

Medica, national champion in the middle distances for the past three years and victor in the Olympic 400 meters, will defend titles in the 220 and 440-yard events, and Fick will try for another 100-meter championship.

Saints Possess Weight

One of the smallest turnouts—26 boys—in Santa Ana High school football history greeted Coaches W. W. (Bill) Foote and Joe Koegler on "opening day" at Poly field, but a like number is anticipated before the week ends at Poly field.

Whittier will furnish the first practice opposition here Sept. 24.

Several of the Saints are working and others have not returned from vacation, what with school classes still a few days off.

What the 26 Saints lacked in number they made up in weight yesterday. The slim roster was studded with 185-190-200 pounders which will give the preps their beefiest collection since the championship days of 1931 and '32.

Foote lost no time in getting underway. Profiting from a fine spring practice, which taught the Saints a lot of football, he started off his preps scrimmaging the first afternoon. Thirty push-ups and a couple of laps around the track completed the first drill.

Pittsburgh Trains At San Bernardino Again Next Spring

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates will do their 1938 spring training at San Bernardino's Perris Hill park.

Chamber of commerce officials have completed the arrangements with the major league club, which first came here in 1935, and returned last spring.

Prominently missing were such potential regulars as Monte Klepper, Eugene (Bud) Hamaker, Jack McClure and Milton Smith, although Klepper and Smith departed after checking out suits. All except Hamaker are linesmen.

Twelve turned out for Reese (Pinky) Greene's sophomore team.

The opening turnout:

VARSITY

SOPHOMORES

LOPEZ, KUDO CLASH HERE

Vincent Lopez, one-time world's champion, vs. Kimon Kudo, Japanese 175-pound titleholder!

That is the all-star wrestling feature that will headline Promoter Tige Clinton's four-bout program at the Orange Coutny Athletic club Monday night.

Rounding out the attractive bill will be Ignacio Martinez and Hardy Kruskamp in another two-out-of-three-fall bout; Don Juan Pico vs. Harry Jacobs, and "Ironman" Louie Miller vs. Del Kunkle.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

PHIL CAVARETTA, Cubs—Drove in half of team's eight runs against Cards with two doubles and a single.

MEL ALMADA, Senators—Drove out three hits in each game of doubleheaders with Red Sox.

FRED FITZSIMMONS AND ROY HENSHAW, Dodgers—Combined to hold Bees to six hits and one run.

Seals Press Padres as Sac Nine Goes 5½ Games Ahead

Determined San Francisco Seals moved within a game of wavering second place San Diego today as Sacramento increased its Pacific Coast league leadership to five and a half games.

Two-base hits by Nick Cullop, Buster Adams and Johnny Vergez and a brace of errors helped Sacramento score a 6-1 victory over the Portland Beavers. Los Angeles hopped on four San Diego pitching aces for a 7 to 2 victory which was climaxed by a four-run uprising by the Angels in the last inning.

Three double plays, a home run by Ted Norbert with two on the bags, were instrumental in giving the San Francisco Seals an 8 to 1 victory over their home town rivals and cellar champions, the San Francisco Missions. One more loss for the Missions and it will be an even hundred for the runs. Herman Pillette followed and was nicked for one run, Manuel Salvo was the next Angel victim and allowed one score, and Wally Herbert allowed three.

Oakland failed to reach Seattle in time last night and the teams play a double-header tonight.

WARD PLAYS TONIGHT

Montgomery Ward's first-half champions, marking time in the Santa Ana City league playoffs until Kenneth Miller's Elks return from The Examiner's annual tournament, will play a free double-header at the Municipal bowl tonight.

The Lomita Gas company nine of Long Beach, champion of its league, will meet Walt Jordan's department store lads in the first game, beginning at 7:45.

The Laguna Beach All-Stars, who hold decisions over Holly Sugar, San Juan Capistrano and Pomona's city champions, will furnish the opposition for the second game.

Paressis Roussous and Jordan will divide the pitching assignment for Santa Ana.

Fountain of Lover of Temperance Dry

FORTY ENLIST WITH COOK AT H. S. FIELD

Develbiss, Nesmith, Fee, Arnett Arrive From Anaheim High

Those 14 returning veterans may think they have an edge over the new crop of freshmen who reported for initial practice for Santa Ana Jaysee's football varsity.

However, it's going to take a lot of hustle on the letter men's part if they expect to keep no less than six incoming freshmen off the first string which Russell Roquet opens against Pasadena a week from Friday night in the Municipal bowl.

Although only 14 lettermen are due to turn out in comparison with last year's 27, there need be no crying towels because Coaches Bill Cook and Blanchard Beatty have signed up one of the finest first-year squads in Don annals. There were 40 in all—veterans and newcomers.

With the workouts for this morning and tonight, the Don roster should be swelled to more than 50 and may even surpass last year's banner total of 60 players.

Bob Ganong, all-city center from San Francisco, reported today. Rumors continue that Vici Francis, brother of All-America Sam Francis, of Nebraska, would enlist.

Larry Timken and Gil Nehrig, all-Orange league back and tackle, respectively, last season for Orange's champion Panthers, checked out suits and with their first day performances were immediately stamped by the vets as "men to beat."

Russell (Rusty) Roquet, the giant tackle, brought over some splendid Anaheim talent, and three of them promise to put in a terrific bid for the Don-Bulldog starting assignment. Ted DeVelbiss, an all-around athlete who gained all-county league recognition at end, impressed in workouts at Poly field yesterday.

Jerry Nesmith, who performed in spring practice here, joined the ranks as a center and probably will replace Danny Boyd at the pivot post. Boyd will go to running guard. Wally Fee Cal Caloway and Lynn May also rate. Arnett, backs, and Guard Joe Anton also show promise.

The highly touted Les McLennan from Oceanside High looms as the sixth man who may shove his bulky frame into the Dons' lineup. He's a high-stepping fullback.

John (Pete) Kotlar and Virgil Stevens aren't exactly newcommers, having played rugby last spring. Both are giant tackles, and should play a big part in assisting Lettermen Dick Tauber and Roquet.

Eleevn of the 14 vets reported, with Erwin Youel the only member of the co-captainship in suit. Ed Stanley can report if the Dons drill at night. Blas Mercurio, Oliver McCarter, Tauber, Roquet, MacBeall, Bob Faul, Boyd, Charles Mueller and Carl Lehnhardt and Joe Crawford were monogram-winners who worked out. Scrappy Maxie Moore donned a unie with Walt Opp, both reserves from last year's champions.

Carroll Joy was at a wing post. Jack Lentz and Bill McNeil, both out for spring practice, are expected to form valuable line replacements. Lentz plays center and McNeil has been stationed by Cook at guard.

Dick Saunders, whose brother won fame as a Trojan eight years ago, came up from San Diego and from all indications will be a hard one to keep off the team. He is specially adept at running and passing.

The complete roster: Lettermen: Erwin Youel, Dick Tauber, "Rusty" Roquet, Oliver McCarter, Mac Beall, Bob Faul, Dan Boyd, Blas Mercurio, Charles Mueller, Carl Lehnhardt and Joe Crawford.

ELKS LAUNCH TITLE BID; ORANGE WINS

Lionettes Drub Coca Colas, 11-1, Prepare For Pasadena Girls

His fast ball blazing away to perfection to permit only two scratch hits and send down 16 on strikeouts, Ira DeBusk led his Irvine team past the first barrier in the race for The Examiner's softball tournament cup last night, breezing away with a 10-0 victory over the Warner Brothers' movie nine at East Los Angeles stadium.

A show of home runs which were not home runs was put on by the giant killers Bud Staples, LeRoy (Chub) Sears, and Ed Starkey. Ground rules allowed only two bases on balls hit out of the park, but these timely clouts went a long way in tumbling Warner's hired hands with a 15-hit attack.

Staples clubbed out the hardest one, the ball clearing the centerfield fence by 50 feet.

The Beanpickers had their opponents licked from the very first when four runs tallied on four hits and two free passes to first. "Chub" Sears' "double" blasted over the leftfield barrier did the damage with Staples, George Padias and Ray Hodgson aboard.

Warner's nine proved easy pickings for DeBusk, who had little trouble with finding the pan. His 16 whiffings set a mark for others to shoot at in the tourney. One of the two bingles was poked out by Pitcher Stine.

Tomorrow night at Fiedler field Santa Barbara will attempt to stop Ernie Lagier's flashy squad in the second game. It was this same team that Ray Hodgson whipped his fast ball against last year as a member of Irvine's team pitching a no run no hit game.

ELKS PLAY TONIGHT

Santa Ana's Elks will try to do tonight just what Irvine did last night, when they open a stand against the highly-touted Huntington Park nine at Goodyear field in Los Angeles in the second game of a doubleheader in the Examiner's tourney.

The Elks, who entered when Montgomery Ward's nine gave up their right, will be considerably weakened at the plate and in the field by the ineligibility of Ray Short.

COCA COLA FALL BY 11-1 MARGIN

Sharpening their batting eyes for tomorrow night's joust in the Examiner's amateur softball tournament, the Orange Lionettes took some of the sting off from a previous defeat by decisively thumping the Coca Cola girls of Los Angeles, 11-1, at the Orange city park last night.

Four blows were scattered by Pitchers Lois Terry and Wakeham over the seven innings. Miss Terry chucked for only four frames and helped her team's cause with a sharp homer in the fourth. Pat Collins lined out another one in the sixth, completely sinking the Los Angeles team. Four errors by the invaders aided the Lionettes.

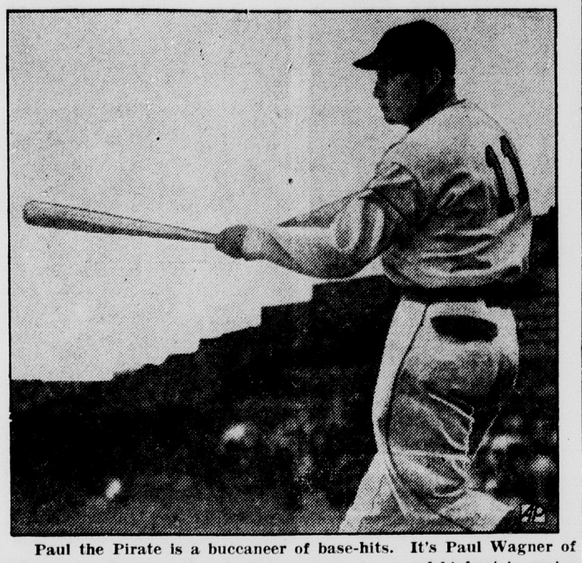

Tomorrow night the Lionettes clash at Wrigley field against the Pasadena Cubs.

Oldtimers Superior In Tennis, Claim

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Some of the girls playing through sun and rain and mud in the national championships look to the untrained eye like pretty good tennis players, and it comes as a shock and a disappointment to learn on high authority that they are selling platers compared to fully-dressed giantesses who used to roam our courts.

Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, one of the greatest of the old guard, says so, positively. Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, the terrible Pole; Anita Lizana, the chic Chilean; Alice Marble, Helen Jacobs, Kay Stammers and all the other pretties romping around in shorts these days are about a dime a dozen in Molla's book.

The famous Norsewoman, who won the American women's championship six times from 1916 to 1926, gave judgment yesterday while watching Helen Jacobs struggle through three sets to defeat Joan Ingram, a chubby English girl who isn't even ranked in her own country.

"How would Suzanne Lenglen have done against the girls playing in this tournament?"

"Why, Suzanne could have cleaned out this field without ever using her backhand," she came back, "I could have cleaned them out myself.

"We had great players in my day. Take Suzanne, and take Mary Browne, Elizabeth Ryan, Kitty McKane Godfree and myself. And Helen Wills at the tail end. I honestly don't think any of these girls could have competed with us, even if pictures of us in our long skirts do look funny now."

Just for the sake of argument, did Suzanne, Molla or any of that group have a better service than Alice Marble's, a superior forehand drive than Jedrzejowska's, or a more deadly drop-shot than Lizana's?

"Perhaps not," hedged Mrs. Mallory, who for years now has held a responsible position in a Fifth avenue store. "But Suzanne's service was just as good as Marble's, and the rest of her game was better. With her accuracy, Suzanne didn't have to bother about drop-shots."

Noting Helen Jacobs' difficulty with a girl she might not have given a game to a couple of years ago, it was suggested that Helen finally might have lost some of that carried her to the top.

"No," said Molla, shaking her black, shingled bob. "She still wants to win or she wouldn't be out there. I know. But you've got to remember that Helen isn't as young as she used to be. She must be crowding 30."

The only player around who seems able to make faces at the years is Johnny Van Ryn, who at the ripe old competitive age of 31 has reached the quarter-finals again. He'll meet the youngster, Frankie Parker, tomorrow.

Johnny, though playing probably as fine tennis as ever in his life, said he wasn't interested in taking Gene Mako's place as partner to Don Budge on next year's Davis Cup team, a change rumored here.

Baron Gottfried Von Cramm was paired today against Bryan Grant, and, though the Atlanta mite has recovered his game since returning from Wimbledon, the German ace was expected to take another stride toward his logical meeting with Don Budge in the finals of the men's singles.

Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles faced Charlie Hare, last of the English hopes.

BASEBALL CLUB'S WOMAN SCORER MAKES PLAYERS EARN THEIR HITS

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — The attractive blonde stopped behind the visitors' dugout at the baseball park here, called to one of the players, and asked: "Who's your pitcher tonight and is the scoreboard lineup correct?"

The player arched his eyebrows, smiled and walked over toward the box seat section, thinking he might have acquired a new admirer. Passing a more experienced teammate, however, he was startled by a warning:

"Lay off, Joe, you can't make a hit with that girl, unless it's a line drive against the fence. She's not only the official scorer of the Springfield team, but the league's statistician as well."

The player mumbled weakly: "Wait, miss, and I'll get the manager. He'll give you the lineup."

Mrs. Helen Lloyd Snow went through high school and one year of college with as little mathematics as the law would allow.

Yet she's been juggling Western association batting averages, pitching percentages and correcting official scorers who ought to know better since 1932. She is the only woman statistician in organized baseball, and probably the only woman in the U. S. who is regularly appointed official scorer by a professional club.

MRS. HELEN LLOYD SNOW
She Took Her Husband's Job—He Took Up Golf

Sports Editor Husband

Only 29, she knows more baseball figures than a pool hall full of "demons of the dope." But she never scored a game until 1932, although she has been an ardent fan as long as she can remember.

The Western association's average-compiler was married six years ago to a Springfield sports editor, John Snow. Her technical baseball knowledge started to grow immediately. By June, 1932, she had taken over the scorebook in the press box. Snow himself then was statistician for the league, but she assumed that work, too, after helping out a few weeks. By 1934 she was doing it all, so her husband took up golf.

Mrs. Snow reserves Tuesdays, Wednesday and Thursdays to compile the weekly Western association averages. The figures are copied and mailed to every newspaper in a league town, to major league teams having farm clubs in the league, and to national baseball publications.

The work requires about 15 hours a week. Unlike other statisticians, who have offices for their work, she does all the work at home, usually on the dining room table. And she's interrupted from time to time by her two small children.

She Ignores Tears

As a scorer, Mrs. Snow pays no attention to the players who beg to be given hits when, in the scorer's judgment, the fielder made an error.

"I score them as I think they really are, and the player who cries for hits is hurting himself more than anybody else," is the way she looks at it. "If he goes up with a big batting average that isn't deserved, he'll fall all the harder when they do find him out. That's why I tell our scorers to make 'em earn their hits. Padded averages give the league a bad reputation, too, because scouts wouldn't believe the averages."

The hardest game she ever scored was in 1933, when Omaha was playing in Springfield. The Omaha club made road trips in three automobiles. On that trip to Springfield, two of the cars broke down en route. The manager, Pug Griffin, was in the car that did arrive. Permission was granted for him to recruit semi-pro players to play that night. Springfield won, 25-10, and Griffin used nearly two dozen players. It was a scorer's nightmare. Yet Mrs. Snow had a complete box score type out 15 minutes after the game ended.

Seven Hundred Vie In Coast Regatta Off Catalina Isle

ISTHMUS, Santa Catalina Island. (AP)—Seven power cruisers competed today in a predicted log race around Catalina Island, marking the second day of the Pacific coast regatta.

More than 700 boats are vying in a week-long series of races.

Raymond Paige, Hollywood orchestra leader, yesterday sailed the eight-meter Prelude to victory, eight minutes ahead of William Bartholomae's Yucca of Newport.

BATTLE CARDS IN 9 MORE ENGAGEMENTS

Grimm Sees 3-Game Stand With Giants As Playoff Ticket

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cubs are going to give the Giants a little party soon and, if the neighbors do their bit, the city slickers from Gotham will go home in a barrel.

Counting heavily on the aid and abettance of the Cards, Pirates and even the lowly Reds, Charlie Grimm's men see the three-game series with the New Yorkers, starting Sept. 21 as their entree into the World Series. It is their last chance. The gaudy lead of mid-summer has faded to a two and a half game deficit; the once matchless infield is stumbling.

BOSTON, PITTSBURGH TOUGH

If the west were only a little bit wilder, the Cubs could play 'em close to the chest in Wrigley field and let the Cards and Pirates back them into a pennant. But the Cards are delovely to the Giants' eyes and the Bucs play like the fat men's team at a church social against the Terrymen.

The schedule shows nine more games for the Cubs with the Cards and, as they proved yesterday, the Mississippi Mudcats are the Chicagoans' cousins. That may help. But Boston and Pittsburgh are tough for the Cubs, and there's the inevitable series with the Giants. As they start a whole string of "croocial" series, the Giants have a neat but not gaudy edge.

	W.	L.	Games Behind	Games To play
Giants	76	48	.....	30
Cubs	75	52	2½	27

No team has had more ups and downs than the Cubs. Stricken with injuries in the early season they bounced back to take first place and dream of a runaway race a la American league. They may yet rebound from this latest slump.

PHIL CAVARETTA
Doubles Score Four Runs

Certainly they showed signs of it yesterday when Bill Lee staggered through to his 13th victory of the season, defeating the Cardinals 8-5. Phil Cavaretta pumped in four runs with a brace of doubles and a single. Phil was the boy shoved in at first base when Ripper Collins broke his ankle. Lee finished strongly, allowing one hit in the last five frames, a homer by Don Dadgett.

CUBS ADD REYNOLDS

The Cubs' front office added Carl Reynolds, former American league, to the squad. Reynolds, a 33-year-old veteran of four American league clubs, has been hitting .358 with the Minneapolis Millers.

In the only other National league game, the Brooklyn Dodgers trimmed the Boston Bees, 6-1 in the rubber game of a three-game series. Cookie Lavagetto's homer was a big factor in the Dodger attack.

The once-proud Red Sox bowed twice to the Washington Senators 11-5 and 5-4 in the only American league games. Jimmy Deshong and Monte Weaver held the Sox at bay while the Nats pummeled Rube Walberg, Jose Gonzales, and Ted Olson in the opener and Johnny Marcum in the nightcap.

PRO GRIDDERS PLAY TONIGHT

NEW YORK. (AP)—Seeking success where two other professional football teams have failed this season, the New York gridiron giants battle an eastern all-star college eleven for the benefit of charity under the Polo Grounds' lights tonight.

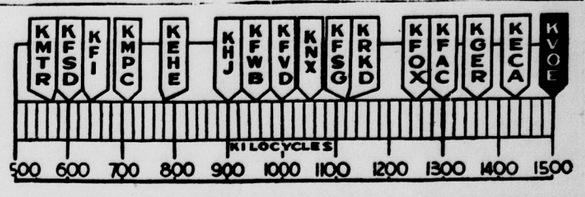

Within the last week, the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears have bowed to college stars who studded the football fields of the country last year, showing for the first time in major competition that the boys who play for pay can be stopped by a high-class college outfit.

Tonight's game, the second for the benefit of the Herald Tribune fresh air fund, pits the best of the East, selected by Andy Kerr of Colgate, against a seasoned team sprinkled with youngsters in their debuts as pros. With cool weather predicted, some 40,000 fans are expected to witness the renewal of the series won by the Giants in mid-summer temperature last year.

SCHOCHS BROADCAST

Victor Schoch, who is in charge of self-help cooperatives in Orange county for the state, has entered the radio field with the help of his wife, Lynn Schoch. The Schochs have originated and leased to a sponsor a program which runs for 13 weeks on KHJ at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The program is entitled "What Does Your Hand Say?" and is based upon palmistry.

MORE SCOOPS

Having disposed of the McGlynn murder with the capture of Dr. Ludington, Connie Jones and Larry Smith, "The Cub Reporters," turn to more "scoops." A quiet evening at the theater is planned for tonight with tickets at $6.50 but the "quiet evening" is doomed to be thwarted because of a radio news flash. KVOE tonight at 7 o'clock.

MURDER TALE

Second and next to the last installment of the true-to-fact story of "Jack, the Ripper," considered the most interesting of those from the files of Captain Don Wilkie, noted criminologist, will be given by him on KVOE tonight at 9:30. Tonight's and Friday night's broadcasts will conclude the present broadcast series entitled "In the Crimelight" by Captain Wilkie from KVOE.

SOUTH LAGUNA POLICE SERVICE SCORED

IRATE GROUP PLEADS FOR PROTECTION

Board 'Passes Buck' To Sheriff's Men

Scathing criticism of lack of police protection in the South Laguna area was dumped in the laps of the board of supervisors and Sheriff Logan Jackson today.

"I've been at Three Arch Bay seven years," said one member of an irate delegation which descended on the board yesterday afternoon, "and the only time I ever saw a sheriff's deputy was when there were a lot of burglaries, and one of them came down, looked around and said there wasn't anything he could do about it and went home."

Supervisors passed the buck to the sheriff, suggesting maybe Jackson didn't have his officers distributed in the right proportion. So off the delegation went to see the sheriff—with a promise that they would be back if they got no results.

The delegation was headed by Capt. George Portus, secretary of the Laguna chamber of commerce, but acting as representative of the South Coast Improvement association. Other leaders were George E. Grant of South Laguna and Dan Flaherty and Milton C. Ryer of Three Arch bay.

A recent epidemic of prowlers in that area and asserted failure of Jackson to get officers to the scene, last week prompted a group of South Coast leaders to write a letter to the board. When no action was taken toward better service, they marched on the board personally.

Library Board 'Pixillated' Over $12 Light Bulb

Placentia's library board will have to set aside its new book, "Everybody's Pixillated," for a while and write a letter to the board of supervisors asking for a $12 light bulb.

Supervisor Harry Riley, who is much amused by discovering the title in a list of new library books, asked fellow supervisors yesterday if a bulb couldn't be installed at the Placentia library corner in an ornamental standard. The corner now, he said, is lighted by two other lights, while the ornamental standard is dark. Which seemed to Riley a pixillated way to take care of things.

The board decided it couldn't do anything, however, until it was asked for the light bulb. So Riley was asked to ask the library board to ask the supervisors.

Life Guards Win Certificates

Under the instruction of Dr. Lawrence Whittaker, Huntington Beach, a Red Cross first aid instructor for the Santa Ana chapter, eight life guards on the beach satisfactorily completed the standard course, and are receiving certificates from the national organization. Dr. John Wehrly, chairman of the Santa Ana chapter reported.

FISHIN' HOLE: Pittsburgh Allows Kids A Catch of Five a Day

NO COPS IN SIGHT

Fishing's legal at the Schenley Park fishing hole in Pittsburgh, once an ornamental gold fish pond. The limit is five fish a day.

FISHING DE LUXE

Most of the boys try their luck with an old pole and a bent pin, but this lad is going after 'em in style.

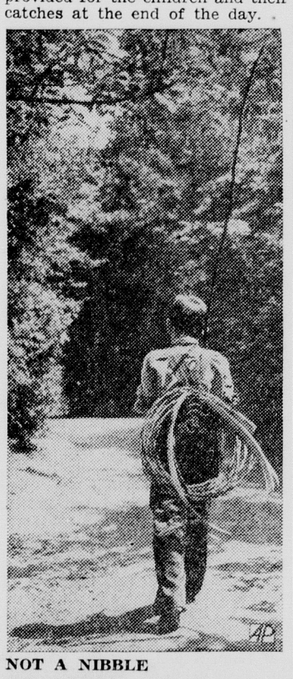

By the AP Feature Service

PITTSBURGH—More than 2200 youngsters have gone fishing in Schenley park pond here, and they don't have to run every time they see a policeman.

For five cents they receive a button making them members of the Junior Sportsmen's club and entitling them to take five fish a day from the pond.

The plan was worked out by the Sportsmen's club of Pittsburgh, which converted an ornamental gold fish pond into a real fishin' hole for children.

Welfare organizations gather children twice a week from underprivileged families for a fishing outing. Lunches are furnished free and transportation home is provided for the children and their catches at the end of the day.

BIG HELP

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.—The telephone rang as C. E. Exum and several other volunteer firemen were lying on the floor of the smoke-filled living room of Exum's home fighting a blaze.

Exum crawled to the phone. Here is what he heard:

"This is Frank Collins at the fire station (who notifies volunteer firemen when an alarm is received). Go to box No. 121. There is a fire there."

Box 121 is in front of his home.

REASONABLE DOUBT

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Cecil Newby, 32, just out of the hospital, had his doubts today about a "life of milk and honey."

A runaway cow he had been chasing into a neighbor's field kicked over a hive of bees. The bees swarmed onto Newby, stinging him unconscious. Neighbors rescued him.

CURSES, FOILED!

SANDPOINT, Idaho.—A burglar did not know the H. E. Brown Lumber company safe was unlocked because the owners had no combination for it. He did not think about trying to turn the handle. Instead he hammered it. The pounding set the lock.

Now the company has a safe-cracking problem of its own.

WRONG NUMBER

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Clifford Treftz told police of an argument he had with a drunken driver and gave the officers a license number. In a few minutes patrolmen appeared at the station escorting a prisoner.

"Here's your drunk driver, and the car is outside," they said.

"Why, that's the man who reported the drunken driver," Lieut. C. R. Pursel exclaimed.

Treftz explained that in his excitement he had given his own number.

Admits 'Other Man' Father of Baby

Mrs. Marguerite L. Milbrat today had filed an answer and cross-complaint to the divorce suit of her husband, Herman E. Milbrat, scion of a Katella ranching family, admitting that Orville Dye of Denver is the father of her child, born last July 5.

Milbrat sued his wife for divorce after a court battle last week over custody of the couple's four-year-old daughter, and named Dye as corespondent. Mrs. Milbrat today had charged her husband with extreme cruelty in her cross-complaint, in which she asks a divorce and custody of the daughter.

Accident Device Offered County

Modern sales tactics were brought to bear against the board of supervisors yesterday as Highway Barriers, Inc., recommended in a letter that the county buy some of its new gadgets to prevent grade crossing accidents.

The letter claimed that the Highway Barriers, Inc., gadget would stop a car traveling at 60 miles an hour within 40 feet, without injury to the car, its occupants, or the train. The communication was referred to the road department.

Seek Middies For Use by Students

A request for discarded, but wearable, middies and skirts was issued today by Mrs. Iva Webber, dean of girls at Julia Lathrop Junior high school, as she asked all mothers to send the clothing to the junior high school office, 1120 South Main street, by tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Webber will meet with all mothers having difficulty in providing the uniforms for junior high students, at 8:30 a. m. Friday in her office. Before that time she can be reached by telephone at 2044-J.

Ban Junk Yards On Manchester

Wrecking yards will be banned from Manchester avenue, new through highway, by a new ordinance to be prepared by the county planning commission.

Dr. W. L. Bigham of Anaheim, writing the board of supervisors yesterday about wrecking yards on the highway, said his commission was planning to zone the route against them.

JAYSEE GETS READY FOR FALL CLASSES

Students Register At Campus Thursday

Registration of all students who plan to enter Santa Ana Junior college the first semester begins tomorrow at 8 a.m. with old students whose last names begin L-Z registering first, it was announced today by Mabel G. Whiting, registrar.

From 1 to 4 p.m., old students whose surnames begin with A-L will register. New students whose last names start with L-Z will register Friday from 8 to 11 a.m. with A-K students registering from 1 to 4 p.m.

223 REGISTER

Records at the college show today that 223 incoming students registered yesterday. The program for tomorrow, the last day of Freshman Days, was outlined today by L. L. Beeman, faculty chairman.

A general assembly of incoming freshmen will be held in the Congregational church at 10 a.m. Musical numbers and talks will be held during the assembly. J. Russell Bruff, faculty member, will speak on "College Standards," while Director D. K. Hammond will explain registration procedure.

SHORT PROGRAM

All new students will be the guests of the Associated Students at a lunch in the dining room of the First Methodist church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets. Immediately after luncheon, a short program sponsored by the Associated Students will be held.

President Albert Pickhardt will preside and will introduce members of his executive board. Short talks will be made by Superintendent Frank A. Henderson, Miss Zena Leck, and Bill Cook.

Board Can't Block 'Muscling In' On Dam Work Here

Orange county trucking operators' plea for legislation to keep outside contractors from "muscling in" on the $15,000,000 local flood control program went unheeded today—because the county has no power to pass such legislation.

The Automotive Council, cooperative organization of truck owners, appealed to the supervisors yesterday afternoon to keep outside operators from moving in here with temporary offices to bid on the lucrative contracting jobs, especially on building the Prado dam.

Local truckers have enough trucks and power shovels to handle any job, the council said in a letter signed by E. A. Maher, executive secretary. Contracts for the building, however, will be let by U. S. Army engineers.

"And to the army," said Chairman Wllard Smith, "a man's a man, and it can't make any difference to them where he lives."

SUES BOAT FIRM

W. W. Petley today had started suit in superior court against C. J. Rambo and the Pacific Boat company of Newport Beach, for labor and materials he says were furnished to the company. He asks judgment for $853.11.

What To Do—

If Someone Drinks Poison

1. Call a doctor.
2. Try to get the victim to vomit.
3. Feed him a "bland" mixture of milk, eggs, et cetera.
4. Look at the bottle—if you're sure which one it was—to see if any antidote is listed.
5. Use artificial respiration if necessary after treatment.

This is what Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, president of the New York City Children's Welfare federation, would do in such an emergency.

When you call the doctor, he says, tell him what the victim has taken if you can so he'll know what kind of an antidote to bring. Starch solutions may be used against iodine; soap solutions or baking soda in water for most acids.

Stick your finger down the victim's throat, if you have to, to get him to vomit. And it's a good idea to roll him in a blanket while you're working over him to keep his arms and legs from striking you.

An added precaution: always keep poisonous substances in clearly marked bottles stored as far back on the medicine closet shelf as possible.

RABBITS MUST GET NEW PEN

J. W. Barlow will have to quarter his prize-winning rabbits somewhere else after this.

The city council last night denied him permission to keep the rabbits at his home, 524 Virginia street, after 36 neighbors had signed a petition protesting the rabbits and the odors they produced.

Property values in the neighborhood depreciated because of the nuisance, and because of the situation residence building in the district has been halted, it was contended.

At the last council meeting Barlow had applied for a permit to keep about 50 rabbits at his home. The application was investigated by Sanitary Inspector E. E. Frisby, who reported that the odor was noticeable, and that Barlow was keeping about 50 mature rabbits and about an equal number of small rabbits.

In denying the application, the council followed the recommendation of the planning commission. Barlow has been keeping the rabbits without a city license, it was charged.

Dana Point Asks Aid for Sewers

People at Dana Point are having trouble with their sewers, but they can't find out where to get money to fix them. Supervisors suggested they call a plumber, maybe.

J. H. Hinkley told the board, in a letter read yesterday, that tree roots were interfering with the sewer system, and asked that the county remedy the trouble. Supervisors found they couldn't spend county money to eliminate private tree roots on private property.

SOCIETY TO MEET

The Crippled Children's Relief association of Orange County, Inc., will meet Friday noon in the "Bit of Scandia" cafe, Fullerton, it was announced by Miss E. Kate Rea, president.

HANDBILL BAN IS HELD UP

The city council last night again postponed final adoption of a new ordinance to control distribution of hand bills to houses in the city.

Last night the city council received letters from the Home Owned Business association, the Santa Ana Realty board and one individual, asking that action be taken on the ordinance.

The resolution from the Home Owned Business association was adopted last week at a meeting of the group attended by members of the city council. This resolution was said by Secretary James Metzgar of the business group to have the intent of including free distribution of newspapers. Newspapers had not been included in provisions of the ordinance as given first reading by the council. The letter was referred to the council as a whole "for study."

A letter also was received from Secretary Oliver Lindemeyer of the Realty board, saying that the realtors were backing up the action of the Home Owned Business association.

A letter from T. Gray Johnston, business manager of a local secretarial school, said he was "blasted tired of picking up handbills and so-called newspapers, and will appreciate anything you can do to stop it."

FLINT TELLS OF CHURCH IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Government Divided Over Religion

Religion is taken so seriously in Jugo-Slavia that even the government is divided upon a basis of religious groups instead of political parties, as in the United States, Calvin Flint, dean of men at Santa Ana Junior college, told fellow Rotarians at the Masonic temple luncheon yesterday, on his return from a summer spent with his wife in touring south central Europe.

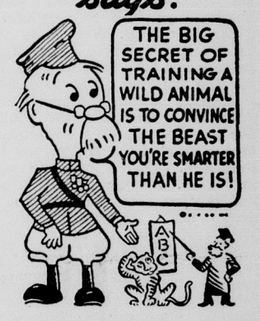

These hostile groups—Greek orthodox, Roman Catholic, Mohammedan and Jewish—are engaged in a continual struggle for supremacy, he declared.

He praised the work of the Rotary club in Europe.

The speaker was introduced by President John McCoy.

Yesterday's luncheon was also the scene of the donation of the first dollar to this year's Community Chest campaign as President McCoy fined James Tucker, head of the Chest group, a dollar and contributed the amount to the chest to start the ball rolling for 1937.

Woman's Club Opens Fall Program

Impressive launching of the new year's activities for Santa Ana Woman's club members yesterday was accomplished by charming friendliness and efficiency upon the part of the new officers who, under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. McMahon, were named last spring to guide the organization.

Assuming her role of president with finished ease, Mrs. McMahon presented her corps of officers. As each came forward, she was presented with a lovely corsage. The president wore a gardenia corsage on her orchid chiffon gown.

Cabinet officers who will assist the new president in her duties for the year were Mrs. L. E. Tarbox, vice-president; Miss Linda Kroeker, recording secretary; Mrs. Earl P. Ladd, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Francis Jacoby, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Brackett, press chairman; Mrs. R. G. Carman, parliamentarian; Mrs. William Kuhn, historian, and Mrs. F. A. Martin, federation secretary.

Members of the executive board who were introduced include Mrs. Agnes Wimbush, Mrs. C. W. Walter, Mrs. E. J. Grothier, Mrs. C. H. Stanley, and Mrs. J. E. Stanley.

Chairmen of committees were also presented to the members present. These include Mrs. E. A. Elwell, auditing; Mrs. Carman, community contacts; Mrs. E. G. Maier, courtesy; Mrs. Charles Clark, decorating; Mrs. Earl M. Waycott, flowers; Mrs. F. A. Martin, foundation; Mrs. Carman, house; Mrs. P. R. Arnold, industrial and social relations; Mrs. William Kuhn, legislative; Mrs. C. R. Walter, membership; Miss Blanche Seely, motion picture and radio; Mrs. H. R. McVay, musician; Mrs. J. D. Watkins, program; Mrs. Earl Lepper, ways and means, and Mrs. E. O. Ahern, refreshments.

Veterans hall, scene of the indoor garden party, was beautifully banked with bouquets of asters, zinnias, marigolds, and roses. Red and white streamers formed a canopy over the officers' platform.

Mrs. Charles Clark and Mrs. Waycott joined as chairmen to furnish floral decorations and corsages. Mrs. Maier, as chairman of the courtesy committee, was at the head of the receiving line.

Mrs. Edna B. Webb was voted in as a new member of the organization, and suggestions were made for the building of a clubhouse.

A brief recital was presented by Albert Angermayer, first violinist for the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra and the Hollywood bowl orchestra for the past 15 years, and Mrs. Minnie Joos, accompanist. Tea was served to the group with Mrs. McMahon and Mrs. Tarbox at the tea urns.

Selections played during the concert included Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song," a 16th century minuet by Milandre, "Poeme" by Fibiche, "Zephyr" by Hubay, and "Slavonic Dance" by Dvorak.

With the fall season well underway, many parties and section meetings scheduled for the remainder of the month were announced. The past president's group will meet with Mrs. E. M. Waycott at 901 Kilson drive, at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 14. The afternoon social section will hold the first meeting on Sept. 28 in the home of Mrs. G. F. Hulse, 1133 South Ross street, while the evening section will meet at 2322 North Bush street. Mrs. Elwell will entertain members of the Homecraft section on Sept. 15.

PRETTY RITES PERFORMED IN LOCAL CHAPEL

Picturesque in every detail was the wedding of Miss Hazel Greenwood of Fullerton and Leslie Lantz of Fresno, which occurred here last Sunday evening. The chapel of the First Methodist church was setting for the affair, banked with white gladioli, stock and asters and tall potted palms.

Miss Greenwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Greenwood of Susanville, wore a lovely bride's frock of white taffeta under net, and carried a shower bouquet. She was attended by a maid of honor and three bridesmaids, all attired in identical frocks of pink net, with tiny pink halo hats and nosegays of pink sweet peas. They included Miss Dorothy Montgomery of Santa Ana, Mrs. Bus McCoy of Fullerton, Miss Dorothy Barry of Newport Beach, and Miss Mary Williams of Los Angeles. Joseph Bodman of Newport Beach gave the bride in marriage in the absence of her father.

Roy Lantz was best man, and the Rev. Henry Irving Rasmus officiated at the nuptials. Ushers were Ralph Randall of Whittier, David Wettlin of Orange and George Barry of Santa Ana.

The bride attended San Fransisco university and was a member of Alpha Delta sorority. She has made her home in Fullerton for the past several months. Mr. Lantz attended college at Davis where he was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho. He teaches at Fresno High school, where they will make their home.

More Advice Given to Mother Whose Ne'er-Do-Well Husband Returned

She signed herself "Just a Mother" when she unburdened her soul to us the other day—She worked night and day for years to educate her two sons who are now men to be proud of.

After all of this time, their dad arrived and is attempting to turn his boys against their mother, although he didn't turn over a penny toward their support and education. Today a woman who had a similar experience sends a few words of sympathy and advice:

Dear Miss Stoddard: There is not any better advice than yours for "Just a Mother," but I do want to express my sympathy for her, as I have had a little taste of an ex-husband coming back and trying to chisel in and reap the benefit of what I have done, with my own children.

In my case he has always been a ne'er-do-well and always will be, while I have put my children through school and have given them music lessons and other advantages, including college for the one who wanted to go, and have done as much as a woman's salary would permit, in addition to as much companionship as any mother can give who has to work every day.

Several times in the past year or two I tried to be a "good sport" and stand for it when he came to town from his "relief job" and took them to play golf (no less) but the more I thought of it the more "burned up" I became, so I finally issued my ultimatum and they were all broadminded enough to understand my position when I told them that if they ever went with him again they could move out and that as much as it would hurt me to have them go, I would bear up under it somehow; I told them that they should be able to understand my side of it and how unfair it is to me for him to chisel in after all the years that he did nothing to help with their support, and as they have always been very sympathetic, they agreed that I was right, and said that they did not blame me and that they would not go with him again or have anything to do with him other than to be as courteous as they are to other strangers, if they should meet him.

Believe me, I know how it hurts, but if she will follow your advice, Miss Stoddard, and make an effort to create new interests for herself and become very "conspicuous by her absence" in their lives, while it may not awaken her sons to their mistake, at least it will give her something else to think about and perhaps she may receive a morsel of comfort in the fact that after all (as someone—I have forgotten who so wisely said) "Parents are given to their children, while children are only loaned to their parents." One has to cover up so much and bear so much, that sometimes it seems almost impossible to go on, but it can be done, and as long as she knows she has done the right thing by her children, her conscience is clear and that helps.

With best wishes to "Just a Mother" and to you, Miss Stoddard, I am, sincerely.

"HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL."

TWO PARTIES OBSERVE 87TH ANNIVERSARY

The 87th birthday of Mrs. Mattie Conkle, observed early this week, was the cause of happy celebrations both Sunday and Monday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lula Blacketer, 1020 North Ross street.

Monday noon, Mrs. Blacketer was hostess to a group of intimate friends of her mother at a lovely dinner, when purple cellophane paper and gold candles carried out a regal note in the decorations.

Much interest was found in comparing ages and reminiscences, for all the luncheon guests were over 80 years of age. Mrs. Conkle, the honor guest, was 87; Mrs. Elizabeth McLeod, 93; Mrs. Martha King, 88; Mrs. Mary Wright, 80, and Mrs. Janet Hantsbarger, 85.

The previous day, more than 25 guests called during the afternoon at the Blacketer residence to wish the birthday celebrant well, and to present her with lovely bouquets of flowers and gifts.

Those who called included Mrs. Bertha Mills of Garden Grove, Mr. and Mrs. W. Irving Orth, Mrs. Edith Paul, Mrs. Laura Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Price, Mrs. Annie Arnold, Mrs. Mary E. Perdew and daughter Peggy.

Mrs. Emma Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kull, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Adamson, Miss Lutie Lyman, Mrs. James Ingham, Miss Edna Ingham, Mrs. Maude Wallace, all of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Emma Kale, Mrs. Alice Weatherby, Mrs. Jessie McIsaacs and A. B. Goetting of Long Beach, Mrs. May Thompson of San Diego, Miss Esther Coppick of Orange, Miss Lois Rulon, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Conkle and daughters Marguerite and Barbara of Los Angeles.

LOCAL COUPLE MARRY AT LAS VEGAS

In quiet rites performed in Las Vegas, Nev., last Friday afternoon, Miss Gloria Holt of Bellflower became the bride of Ray Bueneman of Santa Ana.

The bride wore a charming sport outfit for the ceremony. They were attended by Senator and Mrs. Thomas W. Morris.

The new Mrs. Bueneman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton J. Holt and is a graduate of Beverly Hills High school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bueneman of Santa Ana and St. Louis and is the Orange county representative for General Mills corporation. He is also a member of Eddie Martin's Pilots association.

The couple are now at home to friends at 515 South Flower street.

SPEND HOLIDAY IN MOUNTAINS

A group of Lambda club members, with their husbands, enjoyed a gay week-end in the mountains over the holidays as guests of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Daws at Crestmore.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Lykke, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Ault, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Diekmeier and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Daws.

Bay City Man Weds Miss Cogan

The marriage of Miss Virginia Cogan, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cogan of Santa Ana and the Irvine ranch, and Paul Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hansen of Palo Alto, was performed Saturday afternoon at the home of the Hansens, and details of the affair were learned this morning with the return of Mrs. Cogan from the north. Mr. Cogan, in the east on business, was unable to attend the ceremony.

The bride was graduated from Santa Ana junior college three years ago, and since has been associated with I. Magnin Co. in San Francisco, where she has made her home. She was a popular member of the younger set here, and was affiliated with the Sisterhood of Spinsters while in junior college. Mr. Hansen attended Santa Ana junior college, too, before going to Stanford, and it was here that the romance began. Since his graduation, he has been connected with the Panama-Pacific Steamship Lines.

The ceremony was extremely simple, with only immediate members of the two families in attendance. It was followed by a luncheon served by Mrs. Hansen.

The bride and groom left soon after for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, Mrs. Hansen wearing the smart wine-toned ensemble and orchid corsage in which she was married. Upon their return they will reside in San Francisco.

Miss Caro Cogan, who has been spending the summer in Santa Ana with her family, will leave Friday for the University of Oregon, and will visit with her sister en route.

OCTOBER WEDDING PLANS ARE TOLD

The engagement of Miss Helen O'Brien, popular Santa Anan, was announced yesterday afternoon at a delightful affair given by her sister, Mrs. Harold Case, 512 East Twentieth street. Miss O'Brien will wed Henry Moser of Santa Ana on Oct. 17, with the Rev. Dr. George Warmer officiating at the First Methodist chapel.

Little iced cakes served with a dessert course were inscribed with the names of the young couple, and carried out the dainty yellow and white color scheme used in flowers and pottery prizes. Winners at bridge were Mrs. Henry Vaughan and Miss Betty Niedergall, and at monopoly, Mrs. John Hopkins and Miss Lois Bogardus.

VISITORS COMPLIMENTED AT DINNER

San Franciscans visiting in Southern California over the Labor day holidays were incentive for a gathering of relatives and intimate friends at the lovely ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Pearce at Costa Mesa on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clair Cottle were guests of Mrs. Cottle's sisters, Mrs. Pearce, and Mrs. Charles Webb for the week-end and were honor guests at a dinner served in the outdoor garden of the ranch home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Webb as hosts and hostesses for the affair. Fall flowers were used in profusion throughout the home.

Guests for the dinner and afternoon of reminiscences were Mrs. J. T. Fickas and Mrs. George Stenzil of San Bernardino, Mrs. Dorothy Lisle of Death Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webb, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Barnett of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Haide and Mr. and Mrs. Pearce of Costa Mesa, Mrs. Sarah Pearce, Dell Buell, Mrs. Effie Buell, and Mrs. Mary Marsh of Long Beach.

LOYAL KINGS COMPLIMENT TWO COUPLES

Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke and Mr. and Mrs. Brad Hellis, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King entertained last evening at a buffet supper in the Panorama Heights home of the Burkes, which the Kings have occupied during the former's extended European tour.

The affair was in the nature of a welcome home both to the travelers abroad, and to the Hellises. Mrs. Hellis and her small daughters have been visiting all summer with her family in Virginia, and were only recently brought home by Mr. Hellis, who made the trip east via the Panama canal.

After supper the 30 guests assembled enjoyed informal conversation anent summer happenings, until Mr. Burke had arranged his motion picture paraphernalia. A delightful hour of travel scenes then ensued, accompanied by vivid descriptive talk given by Mr. Burke. The films shown were devoted mostly to China, and the friends assembled are looking forward eagerly to seeing his pictures of Russia and other parts of the two continents.

LOUISE MOULTON WINS HONOR

Miss Louise Moulton, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moulton of El Toro, who is attending Davis Agricultural college, was signally honored this past week-end when she was made honorary lieutenant-colonel of the National Guard of California in the governor's troop.

Occasion for the appointment was the review of the troop by Governor Merriam at the state fair at Sacramento. Miss Moulton also held that office at Pomona college, in connection with the R. O. T. C.

MANY GUESTS AT CURRAN HOME

Adding to the pleasure of the dinner party which was given on their 45th wedding anniversary by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran of 2003 Victoria Drive was the informal gathering of friends at their spacious home, many of whom spent the week-end.

Mrs. Delia King and Tunis King, Mrs. Gene Gomes, Mr. and Mrs. George Blazer, and Miss Esther Curran, all of Beverly Hills and Los Angeles, were among those dropping in Saturday evening after dinner, and the entire group, with other guests, enjoyed informal pastimes on Sunday and Monday.

Are Women Better Shoppers Than Men?

Granting a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electric refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean—rugs, floors, bathroom tiling—and have energy left over for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious entrees and desserts that surprise and delight her family?... And where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that she can believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family.

For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an insurance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads the advertisements too!

NEW MEMBER INITIATED INTO AUXILIARY

The election of one new member was the chief business confronting members of Calumpit auxiliary last night when they met in the Knights of Columbus hall for their weekly session.

Mrs. Anna M. Fehr of Costa Mesa was the new member installed by Mrs. Jean H. Tantlinger, president, who conducted the meeting. Winner in the lucky name drawing for the evening was Odella Markwalter.

A series of meetings and parties scheduled for the future were announced. The Citrus Belt picnic will be held at Redondo Beach on Sept. 12, while the sewing circle was to meet today with Mrs. A. Randall at 2024 West Eight street.

Mrs. Anna Trueblood, Mrs. Mabel Sands, Mrs. Anna Springer, Mrs. Ada Treat, and Mrs. Emma Wassum will make up a committee in charge of a pot-luck on Sept. 21. In charge of a card party to be held Sept. 28 are Mrs. Ruth Hess, Mrs. Alice Gay, Mrs. Marie Lindquist, Mrs. Gertrude Rowe, Mrs. Grace Deck, and Mrs. Anna Patmor.

LUNCHEON FETES COLLEGIENNE

Miss Dorothy Griset of 919 South Ross street honored Miss Helen Marshall at an informal little luncheon party yesterday. Miss Marshall will leave soon to enter Mills college as a junior.

BAXTER-YOUNG DRAMA OPENS

A completely new show opens today at the Broadway theater, presenting the smart, sophisticated domestic triangle melodrama, "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," and an adventure drama, "Reported Missing."

An exceptional cast, headed by Loretta Young as the nurse, Warner Baxter as the doctor and Virginia Bruce as the society wife, is featured in "Wife, Doctor and Nurse." Others are Jane Darwell, Sidney Blackmer, Minna Gombel and Margaret Irving. The two women involved in the triangular love affair decide to withdraw from their rivalry for the doctor's affections, but only succeed in making things so miserable for those directly concerned that a most unique compromise is effected.

"Reported Missing" has William Gargan and Jean Rogers in the leading roles. The drama deals with the adventures of a young inventor who perfects a navigating device for the giant transport planes and then sees plane after plane, depending upon his instruments, plunge to destruction. The story reaches a surprise ending when the young inventor, aided by clever detective work, unmasks an unscrupulous sky bandit who is responsible for the crashes. Dick Purcell has a leading role.

Short subjects include "Scary Crows," a color cartoon; a sports short, "Golf Magic," and World News events.

SCHROEDERS ENJOY WEEK-END

Various excursions occupied members of the Otto F. Schroeder family over the week-end. With their sons Dwight and Lowell, the Schroeders themselves spent the week-end at Big Bear, while Miss Leola Schroeder went to Camp Baldy as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Noe and son James.

Kenneth Schroeder went farther afield, going to Bryce and Zion canyons with his uncle and cousin, Henry Witt and Robert, and also Leo and Lloyd Robbins.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

—By—
ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD. — The two neighborhood urchins who had climbed the studio fence to see the fun wanted to know if it would be a real fire or just a fake.

It was real and if anybody who sees "In Old Chicago" thinks it wasn't I'm here to testify that my whiskers felt singed even at their usual safe distance behind the cameras.

$500,000 FIRE

Most people love a fire when it isn't there own but Darryl Zanuck loves a fire enough to gamble $500,000 on the hot sequence alone of his pet production. When the movies play with fire it is serious play. Fire is one actor they can't mollycoddle into more than one "take." It accepts direction badly, and it has more temperament than Dietrich, Mae West and Garbo combined.

That is why Director Henry King, getting ready for a "take," looks like a man who can't decide whether going crazy would be nicer after all. He carries a tiny megaphone but when he spiels orders to the firemen and extras he uses a loud-speaker. Things seem to be going wrong. The firemen, unaccustomed as they are to fire-fighting as Chicago did it in 1871, seem to be all thumbs in handling the antiquated equipment.

REAL PANIC

King goes to try it himself, then orders a rehearsal—without the fire. The scene becomes pandemonium but only mildly.

Just before the "take" the studio smokepots get going, belching black clouds over the scene. And then—the fire. All at once, like that, Mrs. O'Leary's house spits fire. From neighboring roofs and windows great sheets of flame leap forth, hissing and roaring. A tree in the street, brittle and dry, joins the mad chorus of flame—and this time the panic is real—or looks it. The firemen are frantic, pouncing on their ladders while faint streams of water attack the inferno. The women and children are scurrying past the camera, fast as they can, to get out of the heat.

KEROSENE DOES IT

It's all over in two minutes. With this breeze blowing and all, I've been backing away looking for quick exits in case the whole lot decides to play old Chicago. But while the movie firemen are collecting their extra's checks, real firemen are putting out the fire with modern equipment.

COMIC, DRAMA ON NEW BILL

"There Goes My Girl" featuring Ann Sothern and Gene Raymond, along with "That I May Live" with Rochelle Hudson and Robert Kent, are co-billed at the State theater tonight and Thursday. "The Land of the Midnight Sun," a travelogue, completes the program.

Gene Raymond and Ann Sothern, as rival newspaper reporters and lovers, provide delightful entertainment in "There Goes My Girl."

When these two ace reporters decide to marry, Miss Sothern's city editor interrupts the wedding with a hoax murder, as a means of preventing the loss of his star news gatherer.

Learning about the hoax Miss Sothern sets about gaining the affections of Raymond, who broke off their engagement when his near-bride appeared to be more interested in reporting murder mysteries than in going through with the wedding. From then on plenty of comedy and suspense follow.

"That I May Live" is a dramatic romance of young love, menaced by the shadow of prison walls. Robert Kent who portrays the part of the ex-convict, is forced into a robbery by gangsters, a watchman is killed and the gangsters knock out Kent, leaving the death gun beside him. Recognized as an ex-convict and threatened with the gallows, he jumps desperately at an opportunity to escape.

Rochelle Hudson is the girl who falls in love with him and later becomes his wife. Together they set out to find and expose the real criminals.

TO DINE TOMORROW

O. E. Reinius' class of the Richland Avenue Christian church will have a pot-luck supper on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Veach's home, 1309 South Birch street, at 6 p. m. tomorrow night.

Divorcee's Daughter

by VIVIAN RADCLIFFE

Copr. 1937 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Janice Flagg is the young, attractive daughter of Ogden Flagg, Chicago millionaire, but her mother, divorced from Flagg, has taught Janice to hate her father. Her mother, a Hollywood movie extra, discouraged, has at last committed suicide. Janice's closest friends are Helene Mills and Lawrence Worthington, the latter an elderly friend of her mother's, who now wants to marry Janice. Janice has been taking a secretarial course. Returning from school to her lonely apartment, she finds an elderly lawyer who explains that her father wishes Jan to live with him, and her sister Ivonne, in Chicago. Jan spurns a check for $1,000 and says she will make her way alone.

CHAPTER III

DURING the next week everything seemed to combine to torment Janice, to disturb her studied calm. Lawrence took her to dinner each night. Though they went to quiet places, people turned to follow her with their eyes.

Lawrence offered a trip around the world, but Janice could not say the simple word, "Yes."

She could hear their whispered words, "That's Lois Flagg's daughter. What that poor child has gone through!"

At school the girls were kind, reserved but friendly. The teachers endeavored to give her courage to face the world. Everyone seemed to feel she must be stimulated. And she didn't need that. She had nerve. She could face the world, even the remarks of persons she passed on the street.

People thought mother had become tired of a world in which extras' work at the studios was scarce, thought she had been weak and spineless in jumping from that window to end a worrisome existence and leave her daughter to face the results.

JANICE knew differently. She knew mother herself had loved Lawrence, though mother had never allowed a word of the truth to pass her lips. She knew mother had wanted her to marry Lawrence, to escape life and be beloved by a wealthy man who could give her her heart's desires.

She had argued with mother numerous times about the way she allowed every cent to slip through her fingers, never putting aside for a rainy day. Oh, she and mother had seen so many things in life so differently.

Once mother had exclaimed impatiently, "How like Ogden you are!" then bit her lips and never allowed such an admission to slip again.

There were times when Jan felt like the older person. She wanted to shake her mother until some sense entered the pretty head. But mother's sweet irresponsibilities had always softened her anger. In resignation she knew she would have to assume eventual responsibility for them both. But now that was over.

Jan missed the companionship, the responsibilities, of that pretty mother. Yet deep within her she hoped mother was at last happy Therefore Jan could not cry, could not feel as those others did when they passed her on the street, when the name Lois Flagg was mentioned.

Each night at dinner Lawrence renewed his insistence that they slip down to Yuma and be quietly married. He offered a trip around the world, to the Orient, to Honolulu until her mother's suicide had been forgotten. It all sounded very enticing, but Janice could not say the simple word yes.

Honest with herself, she knew it would be easier to accept her father's offered home than to marry Lawrence. The fact that her mother had loved Lawrence did not stand in the way. It was true Lawrence offered security — and his love. But there was no romance to thrill her in the prospect of being his wife.

JAN did not want a marriage such as her mother's, one that went on the rocks within five or six years. She did not want second and third husbands, the sordid atmosphere of a divorce court to gain freedom to go on to—something else, or someone else.

Though she liked Lawrence immensely, was grateful for his long-standing friendship, his consideration, she did not love him. All his assertions that she would love him when she got over the shock of her mother's death did not ring true to her ears.

She knew deep within her that she could never love Lawrence as she could some man she dreamed would come into her life in the future. And until she loved—loved with her whole body and soul—she could not marry.

Lawrence's repeated "I'll make you love me, darling, just give me the chance," only made her want to run away from him, to go where she would not see him for a while, could muster up the courage to turn him away from her existence even as a friend. She knew, when she definitely told him she would not marry him, he would go out of her life—as suitor and friend.

That would leave only Helene of all the many who had come and gone in their lives while mother had been alive. She hated to think of that aloneness.

"I'm tired, Lawrence," she protested to him over their demitasses. "Please take me home. Helene will be at the apartment at eight. She's spending the night."

"You hardly give me any of your time," he complained. "It isn't fair to treat me this way."

"I have dinner with you every night. Don't you realize that I'm working hard at school, and at night I'm getting ready to move? I'm going to share a room with Helene. It will be cosy, and it will cut down expenses for both."

"You don't have to do any of this!"

"I know. Maybe that's part of the reason why I'm so determined to."

IN the apartment with Helene she made her decision. She could not go on this way any longer. She must get away from everything she had known for the last fifteen years, get away from Hollywood and curious eyes, and Lawrence most of all.

"I'm not going to live with you, Helene," she said quickly as though afraid she would change her mind.

"You're—what?"

"I'm going east to New York and get a job there."

"Are you crazy?"

"Probably, but anyway that's what I'm going to do. How'll I get there? I can't use the little money left to go by bus and I must have something to tide me over until I get a job."

Two heads are better than one. It was Helene, once she realized that Janice was in earnest, who hit upon the plan.

"Put an advertisement in the paper that you'll do anything for your carfare to New York," Helene suggested quickly.

"You've been to the movies!" laughed Janice. But as she considered the idea, realized that she had read many such advertisements, she warmed to it.

"I'll insert an advertisement tomorrow!" she exclaimed enthusiastically. "You are a friend, Helene!"

"Yeah! Swell friend, helping you to go away to a strange city If I really were your friend I'd make you accept your father's offer and go home to him."

Janice shook her head thoughtfully. "No, I'm going to New York I've got to prove to myself, Helene that I can care for myself before I face my father—if I ever do."

Former Kansans now living in California will meet for their annual picnic in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, all day Saturday. A program will begin about 2 p. m. with music and brief talks.

Mrs. John Trent, formerly of 826 North Lowell street, moved to a new home in Laguna Beach this week.

James Aldrich, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Aldrich, is recovering at home from a tonsil operation performed Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanner and daughter Patricia of Tustin, and Mrs. Charles Dana of Los Angeles returned this week from a fishing trip in the High Sierras.

Mr. and Mrs. Severn Schulte, 2530 Valencia street, have just returned from a two week's trip to Salt Lake City and Idaho Falls.

J. R. Johnson came to Santa Ana from Fresno over the week-end to spend the holiday with his family at 204½ South Sycamore street.

Mrs. Johnnie Richards and son Grady of El Centro are spending the week visiting here with Mrs. Roda Ramlose at 222 South Parton street. They were joined over the week-end by E. L. Heiss, jr., also of El Centro.

Mrs. Howard Curran and children Bernadine and Mickey, 1907 Heliotrope drive, have been vacationing at the ranch home of Mrs. Curran's parents near Rutherford, Calif., for three weeks. Mr. Curran joined them over the holidays.

Mrs. F. C. Rowland and daughter Barbara returned from a vacation at Forest Home today. Barbara will leave for Scripps college when the term opens.

Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Motry, 707 South Van Ness street, spent the week-end in San Diego.

Mrs. C. F. Crose, 418 West First street, spent the past week as guest of friends in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Caswell and daughter Arlene, who have been residing at 202 South Sycamore street, have gone to San Diego to make their home.

Miss Beverly Weindorf, 204½ South Sycamore street, spent the week-end with friends in Ontario.

Lynn Harvey, superintendent of mails at the Santa Ana postoffice, spent the week-end at Veljeimo in the San Bernardino mountains.

Miss Pearl Kimball, 501 West Sixth street, and Miss Betty McGruder, 831 South Ross street, spent the week-end in San Diego, returning by way of Escondido.

The Misses Mary, Esther and Ethel Coffman, 508 East First street, have been entertaining their uncle, the Rev. S. F. Coffman of Vineland, Ontario, Canada. He is now visiting with his brothers, W. P. Coffman of Burbank and A. V. Coffman of Los Angeles.

Miss Helen Jobst, of Rankins', attended a luncheon in the Ambassador hotel, Los Angeles, yesterday given in honor of M. Lucien LeLong of Paris, France.

Alan Titensor, 213 Lacy street, left this week for Tuscon, Ariz., where he will enroll in the University of Arizona as a junior.

Claude Sleeper, Santa Ana, and Flake Smith, assistant postmaster of this city, are spending a vacation trip in the northern part of the state. They will devote most of their time to fishing.

Postmaster Frank R. Harwood and Mrs. Harwood spent the Labor Day holiday at Big Bear with Postmaster Louis Hoskins and Mrs. Hoskins of Anaheim.

Happy Birthday

AL ADRAIN, 808 South Garnsey street.

H. M. TEDFORD, 611 Minter street.

VIRGIE MILTON, 110 West First street.

MR. AND MRS. A. T. WAGGENER, 416 Garfield street.

MARY KATHRYN OLEWILER, 521 West Nineteenth street.

MARGARET WALKER, 2425 Valencia street.

It is estimated that the people of the United States spend about $300,000,000 a year in the fight against insects of various kinds.

The Morse Libby house in Portland, Me., is one of the most sumptuous Victorian American residences remaining. It was built about 1859 by a Portland citizen who made a fortune in the New Orleans hotel business.

Read Dreams—Understand Yourself

Silly Dreams Are Important

What an amazing dream Ken interrupted!

Desperately Marjorie was clinging to a great iceberg. Inky-black water menaced her on one side; a polar bear growled threateningly from the other.

Soon Marjorie will be laughing at her Arctic adventures. But if she understood dream symbolism, she'd take them more seriously.

Perhaps she merely had what psychologists call a "somatic" dream—caused by a current of cold air touching her as she slept.

On the other hand, that menacing polar bear may represent an important problem she refuses to face when she's awake.

Many dreams are important warnings from our unconscious mind. Others reveal personality flaws we could remedy if we were aware of them.

A dream of being punished often indicates an inferiority complex; one of appearing in public partly dressed, self-consciousness.

In our 32-page booklet an eminent psychologist tells how to recognize significant dreams, how to use dream interpretations to develop your personality.

Send 10 cents for your copy of The Meaning of Dreams to The Santa Ana Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

City Approves New Bus Schedule

A new schedule of runs for the Santa Ana Bus company, headed by C. H. Eckles, was approved last night by the city council.

The schedule will go into effect Sept. 13, and will result in five hours more of operation of buses during the day. Runs will be doubled in the morning and afternoon hours when traffic is heaviest.

LARGEST OBELISK . . .

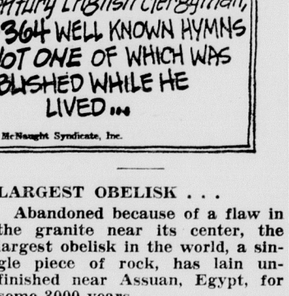

Abandoned because of a flaw in the granite near its center, the largest obelisk in the world, a single piece of rock, has lain unfinished near Assuan, Egypt, for some 3000 years.

Largest of Egyptian obelisks ever erected is the one now adorning the piazza of Sain John Lateran in Rome. It is 108 feet, seven inches high and weighs 455 tons—over 28 feet shorter and 715 tons lighter than the mighty unfinished obelisk of Assuan.

Excavation of the Assuan obelisk in 1922 brought to light many heretofore unknown facts about Egyptian engineering. No chisels nor wedges were used in quarrying the huge granite monuments such as obelisks. They were smashed out of solid granite rather than carved. Great balls of dolerite, a form of igneous rock found in Egypt, were used for the "smashing" process.

Tomorrow: What Does "O. K." Abbreviate?

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did you ever know a woman to buy "airplane luggage" because she thought she was going somewhere in an airplane? W. E. T.

Most of them buy it just because they're flightly. STUMP.

Stitch This Foxy Little Terrier

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Droll Motifs Make Dish Drying a Joy

PATTERN 5746

Terry, the Terrier, will dry your dishes with the same "punch" he displays when rolling glasses and hurdling silver. It will make your dish-drying a joy just to see his jolly self on the towels you use. These motifs require so few stitches, so little floss, they're economical and ideal pick-up work. Single, outline and cross stitch make this splendid embroidery for gift, prize or fair donation. In pattern 5746 you will find a transfer patetrn of six motifs averaging 5 x 8½ inches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Sam and Mary's Budget

The United States treasury reports that it has collected only 69.8 cents in taxes for each dollar spent during the first two months of the current fiscal year.

There's a simple fact that is a lot easier for the average man to grasp than the stupendous figure of $37,000,000,000 which comprises the nation's indebtedness.

This year of 1937, it is admitted in Washington, will set an all-time high record for receipts for that same United States treasury.

It has been reported by the Associated Press several times recently that President Roosevelt is showing increased concern about the unbalanced condition of the nation's budget. And with good cause.

If the same set of facts applied to the family finances of any normal American family there would be a re-inventory and an about-face so fast that heads would swim.

If Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Samuel Brown found themselves starting off into the best money-earning year in their family history, owing a sum that amounted to the total earnings of several years and slipping behind their budget at the rate of 30.2 cents on every dollar of their expenses, you could expect a short, common-sense dialogue something like this:

Mary (Mrs. Brown)—Sam, we're going deeper and deeper in debt the more money you make. I, for one, vote to do something about it right now, quick.

Sam—You're absolutely right, Mary, and we WILL do something about it. From this point on, and while business continues good, we will set aside five cents out of every dollar we make, and retire debts with it. And, while we're at it, let's revive that savings account we managed to keep going during the depression days, and budget two or three cents out of every dollar into it. It'll be tough living on what we have left, maybe, but it will seem like old times, and there'll be a lot of satisfaction in just feeling financially healthy again.

All of us, as heads of American households, are the Sam and Mary Brown in this little skit, of course. Most of us, confronted with a household situation as serious as Uncle Sam's, would do something of the sort suggested in the little dialogue.

And we have a right to expect the executive and legislative (appropriating) branches of OUR government to make desperate efforts soon in a similar direction.

If they do this, then we may feel that we are safely back on the path of progress, and that any rainy day of the future will not find us too seriously unprepared.

They're handing things to father, nowadays. A Pasadena millionaire has got to tell a court how he staged a raid to rescue his son from a blonde grass widow.

Something Worth Your Seeing

Ted Cook, nationally known author of a syndicated humor column and, incidentally, an enthusiast on art, today sends us from Laguna Beach a news item, which appears on another page of this newspaper, concerning a forthcoming art exhibition at the Los Angeles county fair.

Furthermore, he suggests that we editoralize on "this miracle that's about to happen at Pomona." He makes it very easy to comply with the request, for all we need to do is quote what he writes, as follows:

"There's really no show in America that quite compares to the exhibition young Millard Sheets has arranged. It's really amazing.

"For the first time, practically all the great names in painting that have emerged in the last decade will be represented side by side—and it's going to happen not in New York, or Chicago, or Boston, or Washington—but here, in Southern California, in Pomona, at a county fair! That's America! It's very hopeful. It hints at culture, at an awareness that some day may be the rule and not the exception. Suzzallo used to talk about the eventual culture on the very western rim of the western world.

"The big metropolitan papers, it seems to me, do not comprehend the importance of this thing. It's fine to have the small papers first to recognize it and interpret it and point it out."

So—there you are. If quite a considerable number of you Orange county art lovers don't journey to Pomona to look at this collection so eloquently described, you'll know what we think of you without our needing to specify.

Flattery from Farley: In his Indianapolis speech to the Young Democrats the postmaster general said the Republicans in congress are "politicians."

New Kind of Refugee at Laguna

There's a new kind of refugee flocking to Laguna Beach, a real estate man tells us, and he (the refugee) is getting a grand welcome.

This kind comes from the East, just like the Dust Bowl victims, but the resemblance ends there.

For Laguna's newcomers are rich men, not poor men; and they are running from eastern labor troubles and taxes, instead of from cataclysmic dust storms.

Several of the finest new homes now being built at the art colony are for these fugitives from the C.I.O. troubles and Uncle Sam's tax collector.

They have sold out their interests in the East, salted their cash away in some safe (at least, they hope it's safe) spot, and plan to hibernate on our glorious western coast until things settle down once more to what late President Harding called normalcy.

Naturally Laguna Beach is pleased over its newest type of citizen. And why not? They bring cash and lots of it to business. They are cultured, capable people—a credit to any community.

The Soviet government has executed three bad cooks. There's a local restaurant they should visit.

Nation's Capital

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON— Although the air is full of talk about what is going to happen—third terms, labor parties, coalitions, splits, reprisals and purges—your guess is as good as anybody else.

There is much threatening, much sending up of trial balloons, and the spreading of a good deal of plain hooey. John Lewis warns Democrats. Democrats warn John Lewis. Republicans warn both. But it is all preliminary skirmishing and is indicative of little except that every group is limbering up for a real fight.

Nobody knows whether Roosevelt will seek a third term, or whether Senator Barkley will come up in 1940 still the Administration's fair-haired boy and the heir apparent for the Roosevelt mantle as he is now supposed to be, or whether Farley will come through in spite of the religious issue, or whether the Democrats will jump outside of the party and take Senator La Follette, or compromise by taking a recent convert, Wallace. Or whether Gov. Earle will make the grade.

THIRD PRESIDENTIAL TICKET

Your guess is as good as anybody else's as to whether John Lewis will set up a third presidential ticket or whether he will decide to work inside the Democratic Party, where he landed after voting for Hoover in 1932, and bore from within. Nobody knows whether the Republican party will go into a coalition with conservative Democrats, whether rising prices will overcome the prosperity issue and turn to bite the New Deal hand which fed them. Will the country swing to the Right as it did after T. R. and again after Wilson? Or are new elements coming into play that will prevent history from repeating itself?

Of course the man who puts the gas into your car at the filling station knows exactly what is going to happen, as does your grocery clerk, your favorite editorial writer and your newspaper columnist. You hear the low-down inside dope from all sides and you wonder how it is that everybody else seems to know so much more about what is going to happen than you do.

But don't feel badly about it. Jim Farley probably doesn't know much more accurately than you do what the next three years will bring. Nor does John Hamilton, nor John Lewis, nor even Roosevelt. The closer you approach to the real centers of power, the more you are impressed with the uncertainties that they see and operate under. The further away you go, the more people you find who think they know the answers.

POLITICS BY IMPROVISATION

Politics has to be run largely by improvisation. More so now than ever before. It is practically on a 24-hour basis. Nobody knows what the next day will bring. One day Senator Bennett Clark is the fair-haired boy among the insiders for 1940 and another day it is Senator Barkley. Next year it may be somebody else. One day the country jams through prohibition and on another day it jams through repeal. One year the South goes Republican and four years later the North goes Democratic.

At the moment we are in a natural pause. Everyone still is bruised from the battling of the last eight months. Roosevelt is cruising around Long Island and thinking. Shortly a fresh period will begin. It will lead into the 1938 elections, when a new house of representatives, one-third of the senate and numerous state governors will be elected. Out of that campaign will come the beginnings of the 11940 presidential race by which the real course of the country for some time thereafter is likely to be set. Only one prohecy is safe. It is that the next two campaigns will touch deep economic interests of practically every person in the country and that this may easily make the next three years among the most bitter politically of our history.

IT'S ODD

But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK. (AP)—Gold grows in plants in Czechoslovakia. Its discovery in eight kinds of plants is reported in the British science journal, Nature.

Gold was first found in maize grains growing on the Rye island between the arms of the Danube in Slovakia. Burned to ashes the grains yielded gold at the rate of 610 grams for a ton of ash.

It is known that the Danube sands contain gold and scientists found that plants growing in this sand picked up gold with the silica they absorbed. Further investigations showed that many plants pick up gold provided the yellow metal exists in the soil.

In Czechoslovakia clematis, jimson weed and helianthus were among the plants producing gold. The largest amounts of any were found in the fruit of the clematis —six hundredths of one per cent. Clematis stems also had a trace of gold.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — Old Man High-Cost-of-Living is scheduled to stage a return engagement this fall, and New Deal big-shots privately are very much concerned.

They have good reason to be. Soaring food, clothing and rental costs can wreck more havoc with the popularity of an administration than a dozen supreme court battles. When the pay envelope begins to dwindle in buying power, the housewife starts storming —and that is bad medicine for the government in power.

A confidential study by government economists, recently laid before the President, showed a pronounced upward trend in living costs generally. The report attributed the rise to three chief factors: (1) greater demand for goods as a result of improving economic condition; (2) profiteering, and (3) the huge world expenditures for armaments.

Particularly alarming to the White House is the skyrocketing of rents. According to figures submitted to the President, rentals in some industrial centers have jumped 50 per cent in recent months. The report disclosed further that the group hit hardest by this development are workers in the lower salary brackets.

MONOPOLY STUDY

As a preparatory move to meet a possible cost-of-living crisis, the President has quietly launched a study of monopoly. Headed by the anti-trust division, a group of government aces is making a careful analysis of the subject.

Their report may become the basis for legislative recommendations; also may play an important role in the battle over the wage-hour bill when it is resumed next session.

There is a very strong undercover movement in certain quarters to enlarge the wage-hour measure to include trade practices; that is, to transform it into a new NRA bill. Important business interests would like to see this done, and behind the scenes they are busily pulling wires and agitating.

The plan has strong backing from Donald Richberg, onetime NRA administrator. He is now attorney for a number of trade associations which want a return of NRA codes with their price-fixing powers.

Richberg, as well as Gen. Hugh Johnson, were deliberately excluded from the drafting of the wage-hour bill, which highly displeased both of them. Johnson has taken numerous jabs at the measure. Richberg has not opposed it openly, but he has urged its expansion into the trade practice field.

The President, and his advisors who wrote the wage-hour bill, are vigorously opposed to this and are counting on the monopoly report to furnish them with ammunition in the fight.

OH, DOCTOR

Commerce department trade experts are convinced that there are 100 million people in the United States who do not brush their teeth.

This is the way they arrive at this conclusion: Unpublished figures obtained from the toothbrush industry show an annual sale of 60 million. Since toothbrush users buy an average of two brushes a year, this means there are only 30 million who scrub their teeth.

This number, deducted from 130 million, the population of the country, leaves 100 million who disdain toothbrushes.

FED UP

It was a great surprise to everyone, including his close friends, when Col. Horatio B. Hackett suddenly resigned as assistant public works administrator. The capital is still buzzing with astonished speculation over his abrupt departure.

Hackett was not dismissed. A veteran New Dealer, a conscientious and able executive, he was highly regarded by his immediate boss, Secretary Ickes, and by the President. They had no wish to lose his valuable services.

Hackett quit because he got fed up with "taking the rap" for the President on his now-you-see-it-and-now-you-don't PWA policy.

Following the renewal of the WPA last spring for another two years, senators and congressmen descended en masse on Hackett with projects for their states and districts. For weeks he worked like a galley slave, preparing the proposals for early action. Finally everything was ready for the White House go-ahead signal to let contracts.

But the President held back. Reason: He wented to put the heat on the boys on Capitol Hill to vote for his legislative program.

When they began storming Hackett with complaints about the delay, he bluntly told why his hands were tied and advised them to take their protests to the White House. They did. Whereupon White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre called up Ickes and hotly demanded that Hackett be silenced.

Hackett declined to take the rap any longer. He had been doing so for two years and was thoroughly tired of his thankless role. He had a lucrative job awaiting him with a prominent architectural firm, so he decided to quit.

To avoid pleas and pressure that he remain, he told no one of his intention until he announced his resignation to the press.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Since the President's economy order went into effect, the SEC has been having a hard time keeping its hands clean. Massive Commissioner Mathews was overheard sputtering in a washroom after looking in vain for a piece of soap: . . . "They are getting so tight around here, you even have to supply your own soap." . . . Arthur S. Draper, one-time assistant editor of the Republican New York Herald-Tribune and later editor of the now merged Literary Digest, has been appointed literary assistant by Madame Secretary Perkins. When Draper first appeared in the labor department, startled officials believing he was being groomed for the long-vacant post of second assistant secretary. Miss Perkins' secretary, however, emphatically denied this . . . Total operating income of class 1 railroads for the first half of this year amounted to $297,341,777, an increase of $59,325,350, or 25 per cent, over the same period in 1936. Net income was $34,000,000 as against a loss last year of $23,756,134 . . . Secretary Cordell Hull has a hard time pronouncing the names of Chinese and Spanish cities. He calls GIJON, Spain," that unpronounceable Spanish seaport."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

AN HONEST LIVING

To the Editor: Concerning unsigned letter found in column of "Letters to the Editor" in another local paper of Aug. 27, 1937, I wish to make this statement. What individual is unfair enough to want to prevent young people from making an HONEST LIVING? When we have the opportunity to sell our home grown produce directly to the consumer for a short period during the harvest time—then there are those who try to prevent us from doing so.

Concerning the "eye sore" of said wife,—perhaps the wife's eyes are so accustomed to the weeds, especially the morning glory and bermuda grass, propogated by the City of Santa Ana in the curbs along this "Beautiful Highway by the railroad track" that cleanliness disturbs her eyes. She should consult an optician. The only clean spot on the highway, free from weeds, surrounds the "Minter ranch" stand, on the corner of Flower street and Santa Ana boulevard.

It was not the wish of the property owners that said boulevard be inflicted upon us. We were forced to sell to the city at a price they set, rather than stand condemnation procedure.

We have sold produce in that location for a period of 11 years, since 1926. This was years before the Santa Ana boulevard was put in. Why should we give up our livelihood to please a few people?

Unsigned letter calls it the "Lou Blodget stand"—it is not! It belongs to the Minter young people. Lou Blodget has done his best to scare us into closing. Don't blame Lou Blodget!

I am not ashamed to sign my name.

One Man's Opinion

OUT OF THE DARKNESS

The hero of this little piece is a troglodyte, one of those, our ancestors, who dwelt in caves long, long ago.

Down to us of this day there comes certain traits and characteristics that were doubtless common to those hairy forbears who pioneered our present-day civilization. They developed, to a degree, the art of living together in packs or tribes.

Our troglodyte ancestors changed but little as the ages rolled along. Such changes as came to them in mode of living, physical attributes, environment were usually forced by conditions and were not made by choice.

Right there is our chief difference to the caveman. We choose change, look for it, desire it. The last 100 years have brought more changes in the living standards of the human race than the previous million years created, so far as we know.

But chiefly those changes, whether of the last 100 or the last one million years have been physical changes.

The metamorphosis from a smoky, smelly cave to a modern six-room electrified home in about as great a change as the human imagination can encompass at one sitting.

But a change of the mental processes, the moral purposes and the spiritual possibilities from their lowest potentialities in human form to their highest is an even greater miracle.

While the human race has been transposing its physical life from that of a mole to that almost of a skylark, it has undergone a change in its innate, intangible character equally as great.

This last statement will, be disputed, I know, what with war and selfishness and avarice so evident on every hand. But even those strange manifestations cannot hide the true nobility that lies in every—I said every—human being, and the enormous accumulated total of that quality that the human race has produced and stored up, like electric energy in a battery.

Don't, be discouraged because you can't always see the nobility in your neighbor. He can't always see yours, either.

There is one good thing about a hold-up man. When he takes your money, he doesn't call it a purely nominal charge.

NEW YORK.—New York's most temperamental restaurant man is George La Maze. Sometimes he works in the kitchen, sometimes as a maitre d'hotel but wherever he is the diner knows he is about and senses his touch of artistry. Perhaps a better title for him would be host.

He rarely remains in one spot long. As soon as a place becomes too successful he tires of it and is off to new pastures. He is equally well known in Philadelphia, Hollywood, Saratoga, Miami and Palm Beach. La Maze was the first restauranteur to abolish the printed menu.

Instead he uses a portable blackboard with the choice dishes chalked so big no one has to squint or fish for eyeglasses. He believes there are enough gourmets in every community who will pay any price for the best food and he has proved it. He caters only on the grand scale.

Wherever he is he has choice potatoes shipped from Idaho, select ducklings from Long Island and the prime catches of shrimps and crabs from the Gloucester nets. He goes to the markets himself at daylight—and that's a custom too many chefs are abandoning.

It is interesting to know what the other fellow eats. I never dine out and behold what has been brought to the next table without regretting I did not order the same. There is a trencherman who will dine only in places with booths for that reason. He was constantly having his meal spoiled by seeing the more tempting dishes that came to his neighbors.

At a week-end in Saratoga a while ago I had a close-up of what some headline names enjoy after the races. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, was doing dandy with a Chateaubriand a la Cordon Rouge, which consisted of a double fillet of beef basted with butter, seasoned and sprinkled with finely chipped ham and fresh bread crumbs. The entire bit garnished with sliced truffles, brussels sprouts and small stuffed tomatoes. Jock Whitney nearby showed contempt for calories and also the reason perhaps for a growing waistline. He was dallying with what looked to be two miniature gondolas. They were boat-shaped banana skins filled with whipped cream, the sliced bananas previously steeped in Kirsch. Herbert Bayard Swope was handling an interesting looking salad of filleted smoked herrings, cold beef, boiled potatoes, sour apples, all diced, chopped capers and gherkins, seasoned with French dressing. Then Joan Bennett, or her double, toying with something scrumptious in desserts — Barlett pears cooked in vanilla syrup, perched on a timbale of rice flavored with maraschino and all covered with meringue and baked. Hawkins, my drooling bib!

Harry Kemp, so-called tramp poet, seems last of familiar characters, such as Bobby Edwards, Sonia the Cigaret Girl and Tiny Tim, to cling to Greenwich Village. He still has quarters in Washington Square but has become somewhat a recluse. He's no longer a figure at the bars and waffled parlors, but has become serious about knowledge and is an earnest student at the W. P. A. Adult Education classes — where Sanskrit, Hebrew, Chinese, Japanese and Arabic are taught free. Incidentally, in studying Japanese he discovers the meaning of the word "hobo." Flint, Wyckoff and Jack London, delvers among the submerged, guessed at a definition but never knew. Kemp finds it is from the Japanese "hobo"—meaning on all sides, everywhere.

I have a post card from Mason Peters, born at my birthplace, Plattsburg, Mo., who has returned there after years to look at the old home and perhaps refurbish it. Peters was a New York newspaperman of the days of Richard Harding Davis and celebrated as a wit around the Lambs along trigger-tongued and nimble minded. Several years ago he decided the metropolis was no place to live and hiked to Arizona where he has been prospecting and doing all right. Another Plattsburg, Mo., born boy, is the film character actor, Sidney Toler. He was born there in a covered wagon while his parents were migrating west.

SCOTLAND LEARNS

An Englishwoman had gone to Scotland for the first time. On her return to London she expressed her surprise at the comparative civilization of the north.

"Our English customs are spreading rapidly," she said. "Even in a little town like St. Andrews they have a nice golf course."

One good thing about a yachting party is that if you don't like the drinks your host mixes for you, you can secretly throw them overboard.

Also if you don't like the drunks your host has invited, you can throw them overboard, too.
